ALEXANDER AND HARRIMAN IN MAYORALTY RACE

PRESENT MAYOR TWO THOUSAND BEHIND WITH SOCIALIST CANDIDATE AHEAD.

Primary Election Indecisive Except as to Attorney, Auditor and Assessor, Who Are Believed to Have Been Elected—Good Government and Socialist Candidates for Council on Ticket—Heavy Vote Cast.

THE primary election in Los Angeles yesterday was indecisive except, perhaps to the offices of Attorney, City Auditor and City Clerk, to which the lawns and streets have been elected. The main issue, Mayoralty, was referred by the vote to the December election. The decision of the electorate between Mayor Alexander, Good Government candidate and his Socialist rival, Harriman. Their race in the city was unexpectedly close. Alexander received 15,159 votes and Shemek about 15,159. Moshet about 15,159. The expectations of the politicians in getting 67,750, according to the complete returns at 2:15 p.m. Gregory made an instinctive showing with 344, and Beck Octo-Balist-Labor, hardly received any to exempt him from theous "scattering" column, with 62.

The result on Council, as far as the count was reported, seems to be that the candidates of the Good Government organization, with perhaps one or two exceptions, and of the Socialists, with perhaps the same exceptions, will compose the eighteen to be voted on. The vote on Council was so divided that a few ballots may make important changes.

The Good Government forces won the Good Government forces over Socialism. December 5, however, the members of the old council are leading with the Socialist candidates next, but the returns are incomplete to show the differences clearly.

The midnight statement of returns received by Good Government headquarters showed this vote: Alexander 6002, Harriman 6427, Moshet 3544, Gregory 159, and Becker 151. These figures were produced from complete returns on Mayor in ninety-eight precincts, as reported by Good Government committeemen. Secretary Johnson estimated that the ratio of the electorate between Alexander and Harriman would favor Alexander to three for Harriman.

According to the returns at the newspaper bureau at the City Hall 44,150 votes were cast out of a total registration of 82,830. This is larger than was anticipated and to the increase perhaps is due the lead of Alexander and the Good Government candidates, including those elected. On the offices of Attorney, Auditor and Assessor it was practically a straight fight between the Good Government incumbents and the Socialists with the incumbents, John W. Shemek, John S. Myers and Walter Mallard, apparently elected.

If Shemek and Myers are elected they will serve for four years, under the terms of the new charter. Under the same provision the Mayor and Assessor will serve two years after election, and two years from now each will be elected for a four-year term. The charter also provides that five of the Councilmen shall be elected for four years and four for two; and four of the seven members of the Board of Education also serve four years. The length of term is decided by the highest votes received at election.

Because of the heavy vote and the length of the ballot the count proceeded slowly and at midnight only a portion of the 281 precincts voting on the council candidates had been made. The City Clerk the semi-official returns. In many precincts, however, the vote of Mayor was counted first because of the absorbing interest in the contest and these early returns indicated that the race between Alexander and Harriman was to be decided and that the other two, that neither would have a majority.

The result is credited to an unusual trend of political perversity toward the Socialist candidate whose campaign has been made in the most extravagant misrepresentations of municipal corruption and personal conduct.

It appears that the battle must be fought at the polls, though that must have cost tens of thousands of dollars. The next five weeks are to be spent in informing the people of the proposito theories and erroneous statements concerning public affairs.

MANY DEMANDS
YET UNSATISFIED

Rebels Count Upon Surrender of Manchu Class.

Americans Seek Refuge With Peking Legations.

Ministry Expected to Resign Some Time Today.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PEKING, Nov. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An edict has been promulgated making Yuan Shih Kai, Premier of China.

PEKING, Oct. 31.—Fighting between the rebel forces and imperialists continues. It is believed the rebels are making a determined resistance. Late advices indicate that Hankow was not taken by the imperialists, although Gen. Yin Tchang captured the railway station immediately to the north.

Contrary to the promises, the telegraph service has not been resumed, nor has telegraph communication been re-established. The fact that the Associated Press correspondent with Yin Tchang has seen no word from the field in two days may indicate that the censor will not permit him to report unfavorable news.

There are serious dangers along the railway line between the War Minister's position and Peking.

Disaffection among the troops and the people has prevented satisfactory communication between the various sections of the loyal army.

YUAN SHI KAI AT FRONT.

Yuan Shih Kai started for the front yesterday and is now at Sia Yuan Chau. The policy which he will adopt is eagerly awaited. Negotiations looking to a settlement have been under way between Yuan Shih Kai and the revolutionary leaders, but the latter are confident of their strength and have expressed themselves as having little faith in the promises of the throne.

The Americans will hold a meeting at the legation tomorrow to decide upon definite measures for their own protection. Foreign troops are guarding the mission houses at Peking. It is believed that the American capital will be alerted, but the Americans, like other foreigners, are preparing for emergency. Detachments of British, French and other guards have been sent out to the missions to protect the legation.

AMERICANS SEEK REFUGE.

There are among the rebels seeking refuge in the interior. The majority are at the court of Tuan Fu Yu.

On the heels of the rebels, but there are many throughout the provinces of Shantung, Szechuan and Hunan, have received the edicts favorably. The Chinese, numbering how frequently the sizes contained in former edicts, are not satisfied, however. The reformers in Peking are divided into two parties, the extreme and moderate southerners who voted upon the expulsion of the Manchus, and the moderates, who are not throughout the empire. The former are indifferent as to whether the Manchus or Chinese, but they are great admirers of the court. They believe that domestic measures are necessary to give the reforms a fair start.

THE VITAL QUESTION.

The vital question is whether the two wings will be able to unite. The more moderate of the Chinese is toward compromise, but unexpected circumstances frequently carry the day in China. At Canton the Viceroy and leading gentry are classed as moderates, while the masses are extremists.

The same condition prevails in the provinces of Hu Nan, Hu Peh, Honan, Siai Si, Kiang Si and Sze Chuen. Manchuria and Chi Li remain loyalist. Shan Tung, Kiang Su, Anhwei, Che Kiang, Fukien, Kwei Chow and Tunnan are apparently half-hearted. Elsewhere incipient rebellion is prevalent.

An important question for the north is whether Gen. Chang, leader of the Lan-Chau soldiers, is acting independently or in collusion with other rebels. If the edicts satisfy the northern leaders, the control of Kiang Si and Kwei Chow will not be seriously impeded, but concerted action on the part of Gen. Chang and the southerners would probably result in the flight of the court to Jehol.

HONANS SENT HOME.

It is reported that the garrisons at Tuan Fu, Chan Chung, Pao Ting Fu and Teh Chow have declared in favor of the revolutionists and that Kai Feng is expected to revolt shortly. A revolt at Pao Ting Fu would be of great importance, and it would result in cutting off Yin Tchang's communications completely.

Gen. Yin Tchang has sent back home all the Honan troops suspected of disloyalty. His army at Sia Yand Chau is deplorably provisioned, one division having been without food for two days.

It is stated in some quarters that Yuan Shih Kai has been appointed Premier. It is added that the government intends to accede to every rebel demand not yet granted.

An immediate Parliament. That constitutional amendments originate in Parliament.

That the army, though subject to the control of the Emperor, be not used in domestic trouble, except under regulations adopted by Parliament.

That Parliament elect the Premier, he to appoint Ministers of State.

That the Parliament approves the budget and all treaties affecting the general interest of the country.

That the qualifications of electors for members of Parliament be defined and that the army is to be consulted in all matters.

Waiting.

MANY DEMANDS

demands made by the Lan Chau soldiers and other disaffected troops, and that it is expected the ministry will resign tomorrow.

CHINESE ON MONGOLIA ALL SACRIFICE QUEUES.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Capt. E. Morton of the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia, which docked here Saturday, failed to recognize his Chinese crew when he went down to the ship to superintend the unloading of cargo yesterday. When Wong Tse, the venerable steward, who has been with the ship for years, peered over the top of a hatchway through his horn rimmed spectacles, the captain thought he was looking at the headpiece of a diving-suit. After catching glimpses of what he absently regarded as animated gourds, he realized that all the waiters and deck hands of the ship had withdrawn and quitted from old Wong down to Lin, the cabin boy, in accordance with the revolutionary mandate ordering a wholesale deforestation of all loyal headpieces.

Ling, the cabin boy, an ardent revolutionist, had been the emissary of the revolutionists, having conveyed the order to the members of the crew after quietly informing the manager from his manager of the Pacific Mail line. If there were any loyalists among the Mongolia Chinese, they effectively concealed their affiliation, which it thinks should be faced by a unit of China.

In his eagerness for existence the infant Emperor even condemns many of his own closest relatives. The present officialdom, he declares, has not sought the interests of the people, but only its own pockets.

The revolutionists are unimpressed by the flood of edicts from the Emperor. They declare that the imperial surrender has come too late. Moreover, they do not trust the throne, regarding their present position as too strong for yielding to promises which they feel are insincere.

NEW OPPOSITION.

But while the edicts have apparently failed of their hoped-for effect in consolidating the Manchus, they have stirred up a most formidable opposition from a new source. The announcement that most of the Manchu office holders must go and that all the Manchu pensions will be cut off immediately, probably caused a general dissatisfaction in the ranks of the mandarins, and many members of this race at once began talking of a massacre of revenge.

There were indications already today that these proposals would find support, particularly among the younger Manchus, who will now be stripped of their high offices and unable longer to exploit their positions.

SECOND SWING ENDS IN BIG ENTHUSIASM.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
PITTSBURGH (Pa.), Oct. 31.—President Taft's second swing around the circle came to an end here today in the most enthusiastic, and by far the noisiest demonstration he had experienced in the 12,000 miles he had traveled. Pittsburgh celebrated the centennial of steam navigation on western rivers and Mr. Taft was the star attraction.

According to the police, there were 150,000 persons at the wharf on the Monongahela river when the President was taken aboard the steamboat Virginia to review the "fleet" of river boats and pleasure craft anchored there.

Foreigners are anxious over the situation in Peking, but not alarmed. Outsiders have not yet entered the legation quarter. Nevertheless, the fullest precautions are being taken. The legation walls and exten-

tion of Chinese forces are entertained for the foreigners in the province of Sian-Si, many of whom are Americans. The rebels in that province are said to be in possession of the capital. The Chinese forces are several missions, and which also serve as the seat of Shan Si University.

INQUIRY HELD INTO BOXER INDEMNITY.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The connection of former Secretary of State John W. Foster and the late E. H. Conger, Minister to China, with the payment of $268,224 out of the Boxer indemnity fund to the heirs of Gen. F. T. Ward, killed in the Chinese rebellion of 1862, was the subject of an inquiry started today by the House subcommittee on State Department conditions.

Mr. Littleton suggested that every portion of the indemnity fund be divided among the nations whose subjects were injured.

This change in the protocol, said

Mr. Foster, who acted as attorney for the Ward heirs, and who with Robert Lansing obtained half of the sum as attorney's fees, testified that John Hay, Secretary of State, had expressly approved a change in the protocol of November 7, 1901, under which China had guaranteed an indemnity fund to be divided among the nations whose subjects were injured.

REVOLUTIONISTS RALLY;

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

HANKOW (China) Oct. 29, via Wu Hu, Oct. 31.—The revolutionists have rallied and reorganized their forces and are furiously contesting the imperialist advance on Han Yang. The insurgents still hold a section of the city which separates the foreign concessions from the native city.

The Red Cross doctors estimate that

10,000 revolutionists have been killed and between 2000 and 2000 wounded during the fighting of the last three days.

Of a rebel battalion which faced the imperialist machine guns with intrepid temerity, only two or three escaped.

The others were mowed down. The loyalists lost from 200 to 200 killed.

Crushed Miner Wrote Diary on Assay Certificates.

"Friday—Noon—The Thirteenth. No Hope."

Body Found in Shaft After Agony Was Ended.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) BRIDGEPORT (Cal.) Oct. 31.—An old assay certificate, found on the body of J. J. D. Miller, who died in the shaft of a mining vein twelve miles north of here, told two stories when it was deciphered in the Coroner's office today. One side of the slip in Miller's shaft. The other bore the penciled record of the man's seven-year imprisonment ended by death noon, Friday, October 28.

The body was found last Saturday, in the shaft planned against the of the fifteen-foot shaft by a of rock. Miller stood upright in his head thrown back. The is slightly inclined and he must have seen the sun, which stood on meridian, as he wrote the last of his diary: "Friday—noon—the tenth—the no hope." The certificate folded and had been replaced in pocket. The day record is as follows:

October 28—Frank Tarraguirre, miner. The body did not come. His message to M. C. Miller, Harrisonburg, Va., and wife, what do with the body.

(Signed) "J. J. D. MILLER."

An occurrence occurred on Saturday noon. Saturday night—it is cold and long. God help me, I forgive mother."

"Monday—it is noon. Why did Dick forget me? A drink of cold water would taste good. Am getting weaker."

"Tuesday night—The end is near. Don't see how Dick can forget me." "Wednesday night—Guess tonight will be the last one. No hope, the end near."

Efforts to Restore Memory to S. Chandler Rogers, a Patient at Seattle Hospital, Fail of Effect—Seems Unable to Comprehend Drill Manual—Gives Auto Ride, Marvels at Noise of Automobile Horn.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With his every sense raised to the highest pitch, his face aglow, eyes sparkling and every faculty and force of mind and body alert, S. Chandler Rogers, the Providence Hospital, double-identity patient, took his first automobile ride with his nurse, Miss Barker, and a member of the department of psychology of the University of Washington.

When it was over Rogers, after undergoing the most rigid sort of a test at the offices of the United States marine recruiting station, returned to the hospital to relate with all the eagerness of a schoolboy his novel experience.

During the first fifteen minutes of his two-hour ride Rogers endeavored to find something in the landscape to remind him of his lost life as George Kelly, United States marine, and later mill hand, a year and a half, which he spent in and about this city, but the effort was futile.

AUTO SURPRISES HIM.

Then he turned his attention to the noise. Here he found many new to excite his wonder. The constant sounding of the horn, than him as to its origin and purpose.

ORDEAL IS THOROUGH.

"Had this man any recollection of a day or a week on a battleship?" explained Lieut. Smith, "his hands would have risen to receive the rifle. So thorough was every test that his case is simply astonishing."

RODE UNDER AN ORDEAL LAST NIGHT. The injured man was taken to a hospital. Some time ago he was making mistakes for me," he said. "I have been told many mark of people who have talked to him, so in everything he saw that his tone could be made as to the of the or complete absence of his knowledge of the life of to

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Extrasmokeless powder have been ordered by Secretary of the Navy Meyer, probably as a result of reports that the explosion which destroyed the French battleship Liberte was due to the deterioration of this high explosive.When smokeless powder is taken from magazines on shore to the ships, or from the ships to shore for target practice, the order says, it must be efficiently shaded from the direct rays of the sun and protected from ex-posure to a temperature higher than 160 degrees Fahrenheit. When this has not been done, the exposed ammunition must be segregated, and if on board ships it must be landed at a naval magazine at the first opportunity if there is reason for believing it has deteriorated.In every case where powder has been exposed to heat in excess of 160 degrees, steps must be made immediately to the navy bureau of ordinance, explaining the circumstances in detail.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

JUAREZ (Mex.) Oct. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Speaking in the State Palace to the crowd which had strown roses in his path as a conquering hero upon his arrival, Francisco I. Madero, Mexico's President-elect, was hissed and boozed by the big crowd, which he was addressing, when he called for cheers for Pino Suarez, his candidate for Vice-Presidency. Instead of the expected cheers, his oratorical request was received with unanimous shouts of "Death to Suarez! Pino! viva Vasquez Gomez."

Following the triumphant entry into the city which was first to proclaim him Provisional President and the first State to revolt, Madero's unfriendly reception when he insisted upon the recognition of his pet Vice-Presidential candidate came as a shock to him. He refused to speak at the night meeting, which was held in his honor, at the Theater of Heroes, refusing, being the result of his treatment in the afternoon.

Personally, Madero is extremely popular in Chihuahua, and his ovation exceeded that given Diaz when he visited there on the way to the Taft-Diaz meeting here.

His automobile ran over a blanket of flowers from the station, and the crowd was wild for him, until he attempted to force his candidate upon the people. He was the guest of his brother, Alberto Madero, while in Chihuahua, arriving from the South Monday morning, and remaining until Tuesday night.

In an interview, he said that he would first quest the Zapata revolution and then the more foreign capital to invest in Mexico with his guarantee of safety to insure the investors.

JORDAN MAKES REPLY.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31.—Secretary of State Jordan today sent the State Board of Control a reply to the charge made by the board against him in the ballot paper dispute.

Jordan charges the board with an attempt to discredit and injure him; brands their statements as "libelous, malicious and false"; says the people are "fair-minded, liberal and just"; and that when the facts are known he does not fear the popular verdict.

He asserts that he acted in a prompt and business-like manner in obtaining a new supply of ballot paper; that he gave all the documents to the board; and, in view of the large wholesale grocery here. The immediate cause of death was given as heart failure. Durand was born here in 1869.

TOBACCO LITIGATION NEAR FINISH IN HIGHEST COURT.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The end is reached today in the arguments before the United States Circuit Court on the plan of dissolution filed by the American Tobacco Company. A decree is expected within a few days determining whether the plan is in accordance with the decision of the Supreme Court, which held the American Tobacco Company to be an illegal combination, in restraint of trade, and ordered that it be disintegrated to restore competition.

Interest in the arguments centered in the appearance of Atty.-Gen. Wickes. He said he approved generally of the plan, but made recommendations which met protest on the part of the stock and bond-holders of the American Tobacco Company.

Mr. Wickes insisted that the court, by injunction to prevail from three to five years, reserve to the government the right to appeal to the Supreme Court, should appear that the dissolution of the trust had not resulted in conditions in harmony with the anti-trust law.

PAPAL DELEGATE FALCONIO
SAYS FAREWELL TO BISHOPS

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—An apostolic valedictory was sent to all the archbishops and bishops of the Roman Catholic Church today by Monsignor Diomedes Falconio, papal delegate to the United States.

"By a letter of the 13th inst.," announced the delegate, "His Eminence, Cardinal Merry del Val, informs me that His Holiness, Pope Pius the Tenth, will be pleased to promote me to the high dignity of the cardinalate in the course of the next conclave which will take place on the 27th of November."

Monsignor Falconio, saying that "my elevation to the cardinalate will mark the end of my mission as apostolic delegate," his highest appreciation of the kindnesse shown him by the people of the United States during his tenure of office as representative of the pontiff.

"In a most especial manner," reads

SURELY BREAKS THE MOST SEVERE COLD

Will Overcome All Distress from Bad Cold or the Grippe in Just a Few Hours.

The most severe cold will be broken, and all grippe misery ended after taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

You will distinctly feel all the disagreeable symptoms leaving after the very first dose.

The most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism, pains and other distress vanishes.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a certain package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

WANTS HER MOTHER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Declaring she was kidnapped in her infancy in San Francisco, Mrs. H. Hibbert, No. 802 Bourbon street, New Orleans, has written to the police of this city to ask them to search for her mother. She says she has received information from a friend here that her name was Minnie Combs and that her mother, Mrs. Combs lived in San Francisco for some time after the kidnapping which Mrs. Hibbert says was in 1883. She says she knows nothing of the cause of her separation from her mother nor the identity of the kidnappers.

Personally, Madero is extremely popular in Chihuahua, and his ovation exceeded that given Diaz when he visited there on the way to the Taft-Diaz meeting here.

His automobile ran over a blanket of flowers from the station, and the crowd was wild for him, until he attempted to force his candidate upon the people. He was the guest of his brother, Alberto Madero, while in Chihuahua, arriving from the South Monday morning, and remaining until Tuesday night.

BROTHER IS DEFENDANT.

Woman Charges Her Relative With Fraud.

Wants Titles of Property Restored by Court.

Trouble Is Brewing for the City Council.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 31.—Charging that her brother, Edward T. Watson, and his attorney named Chapman, had taken advantage of her while she lay at the Redlands Hospital unto death, and secured from her a deed to valuable property at Imperial, Mrs. Anna W. Hall today commenced an action in the Superior Court to have the deed set aside.

The deed was made in August, 1905. Mrs. Hall states she was expecting to die. She was visited by the brother, who claimed that it would be necessary for her to deed her Imperial holdings to him, in order to avoid a contest of her "squatters' rights." She had desecrated the land to go to her daughter. The brother, she alleges, had promised to see the daughter's rights protected. Acting under this representation, which she says in her complaint, was wholly false, she transferred the title to the land.

After two years she discovered the fraud, and now sues to secure a recovery of title.

TROUBLE BREWING.

Trouble is brewing for the City Council in this city. The Council has directed the Street Superintendent to order all property owners with defective walks to replace them. Property owners claim that as the sidewalks are a public highway and that they were forced to pay a city inspector a fee when the walks were laid, and the city had virtually accepted the title to the land.

Several years ago when the inspector system was adopted, the officials placated the public with the promise that the city would accept all walks completed under the system and maintain them.

UP IN ARMS.

Because Supervisor S. V. Horton ordered the removal of a small bridge across the Mission Protection District's channel on Park Avenue, in the Mission, the residents in the locality are up in arms, and have appealed to the Supervisors with a view to forcing Horton into line. So aggressive were the ranchers, and so determined in disputing his assertions and understanding of conditions, that he finally has agreed to meet with them on the site of the old bridge and to make arrangements if possible. He claims he had the bridge removed because of danger to adjoining property, the channel generally filling with sand.

WILL WED.

Marriage licenses were issued by the County Clerk today to Frederick Sidney Holt, native of California, age 21, and Harriet Augusta Dunbar, native of California, age 20, residents of Sacramento; William Clarence Stever, native of Ohio, age 21, and Hannah Turett, native of Michigan, age 22, residents of Ontario; Gordon Everett Hadcock, native of Massachusetts, age 18, and Grace Edna Wells, native of California, age 24, residents of Los Angeles; Daniel Wilson, native of California, age 24, and Anna Kastner, native of Minnesota, age 22, residents of Los Angeles.

DEBATER SELECTED.

Vernon Brydolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brydolf of this city, has been selected as a member of Stanford's debating team in the annual underclass debate. He is a sophomore. Otto H. Castle of Pasadena has been chosen as his team-mate. The two tried out with quite a class of debating candidates, Mr. Brydolf and Castle receiving the highest averages. While a member of the local High School Brydolf showed remarkable skill as a debater.

NEWS BRIEFS.

That Santa Barbara's chances for an early start at its magnificent Federal building is promised by United States Senator John D. Works. Louis Jones, president of the Chamber of Commerce, wrote to Senator Works, telling him that the people were getting anxious for the erection of the building, the money having been appropriated and the plans adopted.

Senator Works replied yesterday stating that he had taken the matter up with the government in Washington and that no doubt the matter would be given immediate attention.

The steam schooner Santa Monica arrived in this port this morning with 220,000 feet of redwood lumber for the Santa Barbara Lumber Company, the consignment coming from Humboldt County. The steam schooner Shoshone arrived this afternoon, with 200,000 feet of pine ties for the Santa Maria Valley Railroad. The ties will be shipped by rail from here to Guadalupe.

FOUR HUNDRED MEN ON LOOKOUT FOR DYNAMITERS

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 31.—Exclusive Dispatch] More than 400 men, according to advices received here today, are patrolling the Southern Pacific tracks between San Francisco and Los Angeles for the purpose of preventing attempts to destroy property and lives by the use of dynamite. The company has practically one man for every mile on the Coast division with particular care being taken on that section between Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo.

The action of the railroad follows several freshmen who will capture at least 200 crawfish and upon each one will be secured a brass tag bearing a government seal, after which the fish will be liberated. When a fish is recaptured, its captor will be expected to communicate with the government through the Fish Commissioner.

It is a unique method, but Prof. Bennett Miles Allen, employed by the United States government, departed for the channel islands today to carry out a novel plan for finding whether crawfish migrate.

REBELS STATE THEIR TERMS.

Revolutionists Ask Wholesale Attack.

Ultimatum Presented by Liberty Lovers.

Translations of Friends of Freedom Squarely Put.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Translations of Chinese papers received here on the liner Mongolian tell of the issuance of revolutionary proclamations at Hankow. The paper is dated October 13, and states that three officers, which would merit capital punishment, were provided by the terms of the proclamation. These were allying the government or betraying revolutionaries, molesting foreigners and attacking the property of "commercial houses." The paper adds that on the date of publication revolutionary emissaries were sent to every part of the empire.

Translations of three proclamations issued by the revolutionary government, one to the imperial soldiers, one to the Chinese as a people and the third to the powers, also were received by the Mongolian. The declaration to the powers opens with an appeal in the name of humanity and the peace of the world, and continues with the assurance that the revolutionary government, if successful, binds itself to respect all obligations of the Chinese government entered into prior to the issuance of the proclamation. Agreements with the Manchus of later date would be repudiated, it was said, with the warning that "if the powers assist the Manchu government against the people, the latter will be forced to regard them as enemies."

The proclamation to the people describes the form of the new government, outlining the three periods of change to follow "victory over the Manchus." The first or military period, it is said, will see the new government "transform China from top to bottom, suppress all unjust laws and taxes, sweep away all unnecessary forms and ceremonies, abolish the torture chamber and obtain the liberation of slaves or serfs; construct roads and organize the sanitary service." The second period, styled that of contract between the military and the people, will be of two years' duration, and provides for the putting in force of the constitution. The third, or constitutional period, is designed as the dawn of the China of the future as the "middle republic," when military rule will be dissolved.

The proclamation to the imperial troops sets forth four conditions for the treatment of military supporters of the Manchus. The first class, embracing civil or military chiefs who voluntarily sided with revolutionaries are promised double the pay they received from the government for their lifetime. The second class, those who surrendered without fighting when the rival forces met, are assured of life and protection of their property. The third class, those who fought and later surrendered, are promised their lives, but to be detained as prisoners.

ELECTIONEER ON THE TELEPHONE.

WOMEN DO YEOMAN SERVICE GETTING OUT VOTE

One Thousand Members of Progressive League Each Call Up Ten Men and Urge Them to Get Busy for the Good of the Party—Socialist Contingent Works at Polls.

To vote or not to vote was neither the question nor the privilege of Los Angeles women yesterday. While they took only a moderate part in the primaries, it would be difficult to estimate the measure of their influence upon the first battle of ballots, in which they could claim a working interest.

Nothing transpired at any of the polling places that may serve as an index of what to expect at future elections in which women are voters. Certainly their influence yesterday was an equation, but its exact ratio will never be known.

Early in the day, the 10,000 women who Monday afternoon organized the Woman's Progressive League took up their programme. This league has been organized for the support of Mayor Alexander and the election of a City Council in sympathy with his administration. Monday afternoon they decided that in so brief a time they would not attempt to organize a precinct machine or to supply workers at the polls on the occasion of the primaries. They agreed, however, that every woman present should work from her home by means of a telephone. The plan worked so admirably that 10,000 men received from one to a dozen calls yesterday morning before 8 o'clock, urging them to go to the polls and vote for Alexander. Every member of the league agreed to call from one to ten men of her acquaintance, and a majority of them made good. Some doubted their pledge and also set others to work.

On quite a different plan the Socialist women worked. They have always stated their party affiliation in registering, and in a majority of instances yesterday they had women workers call on all the men in their precincts. At least two women workers met the voters at a prescribed distance from nearly all of the polls. Their work extended all the way from Fredrich No. 1, at Garvanza, to the extreme southwest.

Registering continued all day among the women of the city, for the election yesterday was a day battle as conclusive, and under any circumstances the women were anxious to qualify for a vote for the Council.

TRIES TO END TROUBLES.

Penniless Bartender Attempts Suicide With Razor and Inflicts Serious Wound in His Throat.

Because advancing age prevented him from obtaining employment, Richard Neal, 60 years old, a bartender, attempted suicide early this morning by cutting his throat with a razor while concealed behind a tree at Fifth and Boylston streets. He was in a critical condition when found by a pedestrian.

He was removed to the Receiving Hospital, where more than a dozen stitches were required to close the wound. In his statement to the police, Neal said that he had been stopped by the officers of the California Order of the Eastern Star from top to bottom, suppress all unjust laws and taxes, sweep away all unnecessary forms and ceremonies, abolish the torture chamber and obtain the liberation of slaves or serfs; construct roads and organize the sanitary service." The second period, styled that of contract between the military and the people, will be of two years' duration, and provides for the putting in force of the constitution. PITTSBURGH, Oct. 31.—President Taft defended the Sherman anti-trust law tonight, in answer to an address made by Congressman Martin W. Littleton of New York, who in the evening had attacked provisions of the law at a banquet of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

help it. The law is on the statute books and must be enforced, and this stifling of competition and this control of prices must cease.

"I don't want to get into this discussion, but I want you business men to face this problem."

There was frequent applause during the President's remarks.

At midnight the President was taken to the Shadyside Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad, where plans had been perfected for his trip to Morgantown, W. Va.

It was nearly midnight before the President started to speak.

"This question has been so eloquently considered by my friend, Littleton, and I regret the matter has come up here. It favors of harshness to have a difference of opinion on an occasion of this kind. But I must say what I think.

"The Sherman law has been on the statute books for twenty years and has been construed and construed and construed, and finally, by the Supreme Court. The two decisions last spring, in my judgment, give it definite meaning that any combination in restraint of trade with the purpose of controlling prices and stifling competition, is a violation of the statute.

UNPLEASANT TASK.

"Men know whether they intend to stifle competition and control prices and all that is necessary in a court of law is to prove the combination and the intent. That is all that is needed for the enforcement of any criminal statute.

"It is not pleasant to be engaged in what may seem to be an assault on business, but business men thought this law could not be enforced. Now the law can, and is being enforced, and because of this we hear that it is to be repealed.

"I would cut my hand off before I would injure business. What has my dear friend Littleton to offer? Only one thing, I suppose. Either we will have individualism or we will have combinations in restraint of trade, going to that point where the power of men engaged in such corporations is transferred to the government. And then we will have State socialism.

CANT HELP IT.

"Now, we can disintegrate unlawful corporations and put them under injunction. If they operate they must compete.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.
In another month, according to the City Auditor, there will be $2,000,000 in the aqueduct sinking fund, and it is possible that some of this money may be invested in the purchase of other city bonds.

Police Judge Williams decided the rubbish hauling question yesterday, finding the defendant in the test case a small amount by way of declaring the ordinance effective.

At the City Hall.

SINKING FUND IS GROWING FAST.

TWO MILLIONS ON HAND FOR THE BOND REDEMPTION.

Apportionment of New Tax Collections by City Auditor Puts More Money Into Treasury to Take Up Aqueduct Securities, but No Payment Will Be Due for Two Years.

The aqueduct sinking fund was increased yesterday by $57,755, appropriated to it by City Auditor Myers from the new collection of taxes. On December 1 he says, there will be $2,000,000 in the fund. At present there is $1,651,441.80 in cash, and there is invested, drawing interest, $222,000. The investments are likely to be reduced at any time by the redemption of the securities. They are: 148 aqueduct bonds, $1,000 each, amounting to $148,000; five-storm sewer bonds, $45,000; ten sewer bonds, $10,000; six La Folt school bonds, $6000.

The aqueduct bond issue of $23,000,000 is to be redeemed in thirty-four equal payments, beginning December 1, 1911, each payment amounting to approximately $676,500.

The city raises for the sinking fund about $575,000 annually, and has been doing so since the issue of bonds was authorized in 1907. When the redemption of bonds shall begin, therefore, the city will have to draw on the sinking fund already in hand for $181,500.

Should no further investments be made with the aqueduct sinking fund, and it is permitted to lie in the treasury, it will amount to over $3,150,000 by the time the first of $101,000 is paid. It is likely that a portion of it will be invested by that time.

The administration is waiting to hear from Kountz Bros. of New York, who are the owners of the aqueduct bonds. This firm must declare on February 1, 1911, whether it will exercise its option for the purchase of the entire issue at the rate of $316,000 every sixty days until all shall have been taken over. If the firm should decide to do so, the money in the sinking fund now will be invested so that it will draw interest.

The possibility of Kountz Bros. refusing to exercise their option is what has led to maintaining the sinking fund virtually in cash intact, and there will be over $2,000,000 to use in purchase of bonds of the hydro-power plant and aqueduct if the New York bankers fail to take the bonds.

OPEN YALE STREET.

COUNCIL POSTPONES ACTION.

Another effort is being made by J. Mills Davies to get the Streets and Boulevards Committee of the City Council to take up his petition for the extension of Yale street from Ord to Sunset boulevard, the closing of Ord between Yale and Hill except for a strip large enough for a cement yard, and the cutting of Tread between Ord and Summit, and the grading and paving of Ord between Yale and Caspian streets.

The proposition has been up twice, first a year ago, when it was disapproved by the Board of Public Works, and again last July, when the board reaffirmed its previous action. The Northeast Commercial Association's plan is to extend Yale street to Sunset boulevard, and the other matters are incidental to this extension. The association's plan is to give the areas in the interests to be closed to the permanent injuries by the extension as compensation.

The Board of Public Works finds that a heavy cut would be required, and that it would be necessary to remove two fair-sized dwelling houses and the ornate cement fence by the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart.

The property of the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart would be seriously damaged, as one-third of the area of their land would be taken for street purposes and the property would be left with a heavy cut, the western one of which would be no wider than a strip of no value to anybody.

In his last report the City Engineer drew attention to the fact that the agent of the Missionary Sisters had not signed the petition for the opening of the street and that the extension would be bitterly opposed.

The matter was to have come up in the Council meeting yesterday, but owing to the absence of Gregory and O'Brien, both of whom wished to be heard in the possible debate, the Council let it go over for a week.

PLANNING CITY ROAD.

PLANNING COMMITTEE REPORTS.

How to carry out the Arnold suggestion for the relief of the traffic congestion in Main street is now in the hands of the Board of Public Utilities. The City Council yesterday passed the whole proposition up to that board at the suggestion of the Planning Committee.

It is the judgment of this committee, said Chairman Washburn, in presenting the report, which was drawn by City Attorney Shenk, "that a franchise be granted to the railway company upon the conditions, among others, that the railway company construct the tracks, that the city have the right to acquire the same at actual cost upon six months' notice, and that the city have the right to require the railway company to remove the tracks for the purpose of its municipal railroad.

Under the present condition of the city's finances we deem this course the most desirable, inasmuch as the city's rights may be amply protected.

We understand that the railway company has applied for a franchise on this portion of Main street, and that this application has been held pending the report of Mr. Arnold as to transportation matters. We recommend that the Board of Public Utilities be requested to report whether or not this application is sufficient, and that the Board of Public Utilities be requested to submit to the Council the proper terms and conditions to be included in such franchise."

FIND NEW SITE.

ENGINEER HOUSE FIGHT.
If the Council lives up to its agreement, Mrs. J. W. Wilson, Mrs. W. H.

Bailey, C. S. Van Horn and others owning property on Oxford street, who have protested against the purchase of a lot at the corner of Second and Oxford for a fire engine house, will not have the firemen as neighbors, for the protestants have found a new lot. The Council told Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Bailey that, if they could find new firemen at a lower price, the fire engine would be placed on that lot instead of Oxford street.

The new site is on Western avenue, north of Second, and the city will get it at a bargain, as it is to trade even for $3250, while the lot costs more and the protestants intend to make up the difference among themselves. They are represented by Attorney Avery, who will bring the matter before the Council next Tuesday.

Who is to Boss Sanitation?

With the primary election out of the way, it is now up to the Housing Commission to present its program that the sanitary inspection now done under direction of the Health Commissioner be given to the Housing Commission. It has long been contended by the latter that the enforcement of sanitation in houses, especially in tenements and the like, really belongs to the Housing Commission, and arguments based on the writings and lectures of Jacob Riss have been cited as authority for this view. The power to make the changes lies with the City Council, according to the advice given the advocates of the Housing Commission's aspirations. The Council is to be appealed to at once.

Seven Dollars, Primary.

Election officers at the primary yesterday are to receive only $7 for their services instead of the $10 paid under the State law formerly. When the question came up in the Council yesterday for settlement Councilman Betkowski thought $6 would be enough. The suggestion of City Clerk Handley was $8.

City Hall Notes.

The garbage contract with the city has been signed by the V. D. Reduction Company. It was finally drawn three weeks ago by the Board of Public Works and by its term there will be garbage collections seven days a week within the fire limits, six days a week outside of those limits for apartment-houses, lodging houses, hotels and places, and two collections a week for residences. The loading station will be located opposite the Southern Pacific stock yards.

The Civil Service Commission will meet tonight to discuss the ratings of women police who took the examinations for police officer.

Found Guilty of Failure to Provide for Pretty Young Wife, Who Has Alleged Various Kinds of Mistrustment, Scion of Wealthy House Awaits Sentence.

Found guilty yesterday, of failing to provide for his pretty wife, Frank Clayton Bacon, who was sentenced by the Santa Monica, will be sentenced by Judge McCormick, tomorrow morning. The Bacon, who married in January, 1904, had been airing their differences practically since he came to a climax in 1909. Mrs. Bacon, who was Pearl Deutsche, instituted a separate maintenance suit. She charged her young spouse with abandonment, misconduct, cruelty and holding her up to public ridicule by compelling her to walk ahead of him or behind while returning from the theater.

The Jap refused the services of an interpreter, saying that he understands English. When it was explained to him that the proceedings in the case against him were to determine if there was sufficient evidence to hold him for trial, he said he didn't think the proceedings necessary.

"I just killed him because he was a bad man," he said. "Though he has been closely questioned by the detectives on numerous occasions nothing has been learned of any importance.

DID SOCIALIST STAMMERER.

Louis Dublin, 18 years old, socialist, was fined $5 by Police Judge Rose yesterday afternoon for using profane language at Fourth and Broadway when he was told not to thrust the literature which he was distributing into the faces of women passing on the street.

Dublin was arrested by Patrolman Rigg. Rigg had told him to distribute his papers by simply offering what he had and not to try to force acceptance.

Louis Dublin, Officer Campbell received several complaints and he instructed the boy as Rigg had done.

The latter was approaching the corner again on his return and found Campbell talking to Dublin. As Rigg came within hearing Dublin uttered a string of epithets that caused Rigg to take him to the station.

Dublin has been in the United States but a short time and speaks very poor English. In addition he has a bad impediment in his speech and except when swearing, it was with great difficulty that he could be understood.

Mrs. Bacon also charged that despite that he had a sufficient income of $100 a month he had a conference with his wife before the suit came to trial. It resulted in her withdrawing the proceedings on his agreement to pay off the $1050 on the installment plan.

According to the complaint, which landed Bacon in the Criminal Court yesterday, the agreement was entered into by the defendant on October 1, 1909, but after paying $425 he defected.

The defendant's attorney brought out that Bacon's father offered the younger Mrs. Bacon $50 a month for her support if she would drop the failure to provide charge, but that she spurned the proposition.

STRING TIED TO IT.

IS SHE AN INJUN-GIVER?

"Ten days in which to file a brief, gentlemen; but if I was the man in the case I would dispose of the necessary by returning the ring to the finger of the lady, even if I had to borrow the money to get it out of my pocket."

Thus ended the first round of the legal struggle Mrs. May C. Frawley started in the Superior Court yesterday to recover possession of a $450 diamond ring she admits she gave William J. Roberts. The comment was, "He's a Judge."

During the examination of Mrs. Frawley the court frequently referred to a paper which read in effect that the plaintiff "bequeathed" the ring to Shipley to wear during his life time.

"What was her consideration?" he asked. Justice Conley. "She gave him $1000," he replied.

The plaintiff blushed and whispered, "Love and affection, eh?" queried the court, but the plaintiff demurred.

Attorney G. Roy Pendell tried to attract the court's attention, but Mrs. Frawley kept talking in low tones. Pendell loudly exclaimed to his client, "Now, look here, Mrs. Shipley!" Whereat Mrs. Frawley started like a shot and whispered to the court that her name was not Mrs. Shipley.

"There's a pretty point involved here," remarked the court with a smile. "The question is, can life estate be given in personal property with a string attached? Bear in mind, gentlemen, this case may become a precedent in connection with this trial, and your chance lies in your discretion. The machine is valued at $3000."

No, it was not a suffrage parade—that company of 500 women who marched up Hill street yesterday noon from the Auditorium to Hamburger's cafe. It was the advance guard of the missionary workers in all the evangelical churches in Los Angeles, who held a great mass meeting yesterday, opening at 10 o'clock in Berean Hall and continuing all day, winding up with a banquet at Hamburger's, at which there were reports from the missionary societies of the many denominations represented.

The case was a test one defended by about thirty individuals and companies who collect the rubbish in the business district. Fry's case was selected as the one to be tried first because it contained all the elements in controversy between the rubbish haulers and the City Prosecutor.

The collectors contend that it was impossible for them to deliver their rubbish to the incinerator because the plant was not always in condition to dispose of it and their wagons and horses were kept from work for hours at a stretch. Another point which they set up in answer to the Prosecutor's simple claim of a violation of the ordinance was that a great proportion of the rubbish contained articles of value and that such should not be destroyed.

It has been the practice of the rubbish collectors to haul the refuse to a point outside the city limits and there sort it, removing such bits of wood and metal as were of value and burning the rest. Deputy City Prosecutor Stafford contended that all of the rubbish was unfit for use because decaying and rotten, and refuse was mixed with it and to remove the articles of value menace the public health. He also contended that the collectors had no property interest in any portion of the rubbish, because it had been delivered to them to be carried away and destroyed and that the collectors act only as employees of the owners of the buildings from which they gather.

An effort was made to introduce evidence to show that a portion of the rubbish was valuable, but Judge Williams ruled against it and sustained the Prosecutor.

It was suggested that if the incinerator is not in condition to consume the rubbish delivered to it the collectors should apply for an injunction to restrain the police from enforcing the ordinance until provision can be made to dispose of the rubbish in the specified manner.

OPERATORS ARE MUCH AROUSED.

San Joaquin Oil Fields Are Menaced by Water.

Delegation Tells Governor of Present Needs.

General News of Interest from Oil Fields.

The oil operators of the San Joaquin Valley fields are much aroused over the fear of water entering the oil measures through badly-drilled or improperly-guarded oil wells. The present State laws are said to be woefully inadequate, and committees representing the Coalinga Chamber of Commerce and the Kern County Board of Trade were recently appointed to appeal to Gov. Johnson.

He was asked to incorporate in his call for a special session of the general Assembly the crying need of a new water-regulating law. The Governor practically promised to accede to the request. Col. T. H. Minor, W. M. Forker represented Kern county and S. A. Guiberson, Jr., E. R. Walker, and W. Baker the Coalinga Chamber of Commerce. The men presented evidence to the Governor showing that there is a great necessity for the immediate enactment of a law that will give oil well commissioners full power to take charge of abandoned wells which are now flooding the oil sands of various fields with water and to compel operators to shut off the water at depths that will not endanger the neighboring territory.

The law at present provides for the appointment of a commissioner in each county whose duty is to see that the operators properly shut off the water sands from the wells they drill, and under this law W. M. Forker has for some years past served as water commissioner of Kern county. The small amount allowed from the county fund for the payment of commissioners is not sufficient to command the services of a competent man, and individual companies have been compelled to make up the greater part of Forker's salary by voluntary contributions.

The chief complaint, however, is not on this score, but because the commissioner is lacking in authority to take summary steps to shut off the water when the owners of the wells neglect to do so. The new water law that is being framed by the operators will give the water commissioners power to take such action as will all oil wells to provide the necessary funds to properly carry on the work. Commissioner Forker says that millions of dollars worth of oil are now menaced by water in the oil sands.

It is said that the Coalinga field is not an oil field, but a field of legislation as the west side field of Kern county, but the operators there are lending their hearty co-operation in the effort to secure relief. One of the districts specially menaced by water is the oil field immediately adjacent to the Lakewood well, and another is the reliable pumping territory on Twenty-Five Hill. The operators are hopeful that needed legislation will be secured at the special session.

News Notes and Personals.

Clarence J. Berry of Los Angeles, who owns valuable oil properties in the northern fields, spent last week in investigating his oil interests in the Maricopa district.

F. B. Cunningham of Hanford reports the sale of a tract of land in the Devil's Den field for $48,000. He says he cleared $20,000, and he still owns about 800 acres in the north Lost Hills, and Devil's Den's Den, for which he refused $100 an acre.

The Coronation well near Pehlman is reported as flowing high gravity oil to such an extent that the pumps are all filled to their capacity, and the well will be temporarily shut down.

It is reported that within the next sixty days the Standard Oil Company will begin drilling in the old Kern River field, fully three miles west of any well, and if oil is discovered will open a wide market.

L. C. Ladd of the Bohemia Oil Company makes frequent trips between his home at Hanford and the Coalinga oil field, where his property is located.

R. S. Baseline and Richard Snell have been to Coalinga from Lodi and other Kern county points where they went on business connected with the British Consolidated Oil Company. They traveled in a motor car.

CALIFORNIA—CONSOLIDATED. NEW OPTION IS SECURED.

The California Consolidated Oil Company, of which Admiral Robley D. Evans is the leading spirit, has been reorganized and a new option has been taken on the Mascot Oil property owned by the Spellacy-Thomson interests. The original option called for a purchase price of $2,000,000, but because of the present price of oil—30 cents a barrel at the wells, the owners reduced the price to $1,500,000.

Upon the recent visit of Admiral Evans to Los Angeles he announced that the affairs of the company were in fine shape. The company has cut loose from the Lincoln Mortgage and Loan Company, and the stock will be handled by other parties. The company owns 1000 acres of Mexican oil land, and steps are being taken to organize a separate corporation to develop that property.

STATE CONSOLIDATED. WELL IS BROUGHT IN.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.] MCKITTRICK, Oct. 30.—The State Consolidated Oil Company has brought in on its lease on section 19, 20-22, well No. 11, which beginning a week ago with a production estimated at 1000 barrels in twenty-four hours, is now putting out an average of 500 barrels per day. This yield is believed to exceed that of any other well now in operation in the McKittrick field. The gas pressure is quite strong, and most of the oil has flowed, very little pumping being necessary. The output of 1000 barrels the day No. 11 was added to the list of producing wells on the State lease was followed on the succeeding day by a reduction to 600 barrels, since which time the amount has ranged around and slightly above 500 barrels.

The well is 1135 feet deep, and of the 335 feet of casing in it only 250 feet have been perforated. It is believed that when the remainder has been perforated the production will be materially increased.

There is a very interesting fact in connection with this well that has at

MORE THE MERRIER.

Republics appear to be rising out of the dust of fallen monarchies all over the world. Well, the more the merrier. Of course, it is inevitable that the whole world will some day be one vast republic, as predicted by the great Napoleon when he was brooding on St. Helena's lonely isle.

OUR LUCKY DAY.

California is lucky enough to have a real live United States Senator from the East as a guest at the naval review at San Pedro. Senator Smith of Michigan is visiting his parents at Santa Ana and will witness the maneuvers. The Pacific cannot have too many friends at court.

THE ILL WIND.

A Portland man returning from Hirschel Islands reports a dearth of fur-bearing animals. This ill wind bears much good to those who raise Angora goats. Nevertheless, for all the fineness of this wool it may be just as well to keep aloof from the breeze which sweeps the Angora ranch.

PEERLESS OCTOBER.

Californians have bid adieu to a peerless October. In the East the people look through sunset and twilight mists on half a dozen flawless Indian summer days, but Southern California has enjoyed a month of incomparable sunshine. With the exception of two or three days of gracious showers October has been a glowing vista of cloudless vibrance.

GRAVE ABUSE.

A notary public has pleaded guilty to having made a false acknowledgment to a bill of sale. The offense is doubly grave since the laws facilitate business by the most generous appointment of notaries and since the seal of the State upon a notarial document is the only guarantee the people have of a legitimate transaction.

RESTORATION.

A dispatch from Sacramento to The Times conveys the welcome information that the State is about to proceed to the restoration of the old Franciscan Mission of San Francisco de Solano, which is located at Sonoma in the Valley of the Seven Moons, where the Immortal Bear Flag was raised to freedom's breezes. Let the good work go on. The old missions are a priceless heritage.

AN AMERICAN POPE.

A. The Associated Press is authority for the statement that Pope Pius is believed to be paving the way for the election of an American as Pope. Perhaps the famous prophecy of the late Father McGlynn may yet be realized, which said prophecy was to the effect that the day would come when the Pope of Rome would walk down Broadway in New York free and untrammled under his high silk hat.

JUST STARTING.

The statement sent out from Sacramento that California will have a population exceeding 2,500,000 in 1912 is not to be doubted. The fact is that California has just begun to grow. We have room for 30,000,000 inhabitants and that is the number we are bound to have in the long run. This is the mecca.

"The mighty mountains o'er it,
Below, the white seas swirled
Just California, stretching down
The middle of the world."

AN ACHIEVEMENT.

At Avalon the beautiful home in which the fishes live lies at the bottom of the sea a liquid maze of beauty. The marine gardens there are like footprints of God. They might have sprung beneath the feet of that one who walked upon the waters. A Chicago man has performed a notable achievement in making a successful moving picture film of this rare marine view where the waves hold the sunlight captive. Even minus the wonderful colors of kelp, moss, rock and wave these pictures will be a source of endless pleasure to the world that has never peered into their delightful depths.

GETTING TOGETHER.

One pleasant feature in connection with the thirty-eighth annual conference of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, held in Milwaukee, was the compliment paid to this society by the saloon-keepers of that city, who closed their bars in honor of the occasion. This shows a distinct advance in the cause of temperance, as well as shrewd foresight on the part of the liquor interests. Extremes are meeting. The proprietors of bars and liquor-houses are beginning to be anxious to save the public from the blight of drunkenness. They are recognizing the trend of public opinion. With them it may be a case of self-preservation, nevertheless the result is for the general good.

In Los Angeles no liquor license will be granted to any man unless he is willing and able to conduct his house in a decent and orderly manner. The temperance era has arrived. Whether complete prohibition follows or not depends on the conformity of the liquor interests to modern conditions. The saloon of ten years ago was far more of a menace to morality than is the saloon of today.

LET US STAND TOGETHER.

The result of yesterday's primaries in Los Angeles is to clearly join the issue. The nominees for the office of Mayor, apparently, are George Alexander and John Harriman. It is the forces of law and order against socialism—peace and prosperity against misery and chaos, the Stars and Stripes against the red flag.

The Times has no choice as to which side it must take and which it will take with all its soul in the struggle that now faces the people of the city of its love. It is not a time for any lover of Los Angeles and of decency, of honesty and peace, to sulk in his tent. It were a crime to hand the city over to the foes of law. The Times has never been on the wrong side of a fight where the issue was so joined. It will not be on the wrong side now.

It shall be the duty of this journal, as it shall be the duty of all law-abiding journals and persons, to labor day and night from now until the polls close on the evening of December 5 next for the re-election of Mayor Alexander and the choice of an anti-Socialist Council. The time for differences between the good people of Los Angeles has passed.

The menace that faces our city now is a real menace. Harriman's victory at the polls a month hence would spell ruin—cruel ruin. It would rob us of our hard-earned progress; it would be a blow, most of all, to the man who has secured his own little roof-tree through the sweat of his brow and the sacrifice of a lifetime. The city would not only suffer setback that would prove well nigh irretrievable, but it would actually stagnate.

The election of Harriman would be like crushing the smile on a mouth of laughter and gladness by a fierce and brutal blow. It would fall like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky, because the world that has been taught to look upon Los Angeles as a city of civic health and civic decency—an honest city with a future such as no city has ever before enjoyed—would recover from the shock only to have absolutely lost its faith in us.

It is a chance that cannot be taken. It is a risk that we dare not run. It is no longer a question as to likes or dislikes. The city is menaced by enemies against whom all its lovers and every God-fearing man and woman within its limits must stand up and fight.

Never in all the history of Los Angeles was there a time so ripe for getting together on the part of good people of every class and creed and political belief.

In God's name let the getting together be a glorious one. Let every grievance, real or imaginary, that we may feel we have against one another now be forgotten for the sake of Los Angeles. For the time being, at least, let us be as brothers, one and all.

FOR VALUE RECEIVED.

Not many pursuits or occupations can exist apart from commercialism in this, above all things, practical age. Patriotism and politics cannot be divorced from dollars and cents. Art has to study pecuniary values, for, after all, a work of art, unsaleable today, can hardly expect to survive to-morrow. Poetry must have a present financial worth or it will never get beyond the manuscript stage of evolution. The sentiment known in its early stages as love is too often or maturer reflection turned into cold cash by the stern decree of a divorce court.

The "jingle of the guineas" is ever potent to heal the wound that honor feels" in international quarrels.

Everything today is on a money basis. Milton had to sell the immense labor expended on "Paradise Lost" for a paltry $25. That was the penalty for living prior to the practical age. Had the Puritan poet lived in New York State today he would have dashed off in a short time little religious forewords for the illustrated magazines, any one of which would have sold for twice the price of his magnificent epic; perhaps even Elbert Hubbard would have had to look to his Philistine laurels as an artist in moral pastels. The Flatiron building in New York is a truer monument to art than the great pyramid of Egypt, because, while not so tall, it is a thousand times more useful.

It is a matter for all-round congratulations that we no longer have to wait till the centuries look down on a picture or a building or a poem before our appreciative eyes are supposed to look up at them. In every branch of knowledge the money chase has sharpened the instinct of the expert; it is no longer feasible to foist mediocrity onto a long-suffering public, as it was in the platoonian days of Hanna More, Robert Montgomery and Dr. Watts. We must have either the original or the useful in everything. Our twenty-four-story skyscrapers are not like the solitary pyramids of old Egypt, built to cover the nummified remains of some booby who would be better forgotten, but are dedicated to business and the necessary carrying-on of the world's work.

Intrinsic value is a bedrock on which to build. The laborer is worthy of his hire—the amount of that hire fixes the worth of the laborer, whether he be a mender of chairs or an amender of constitutions—a shaver of faces or a saver of souls. The carpenter who returns our supposedly restored chair in a rickety condition, the politician who loosens instead of screwing up the joints of our Constitution, and the pastor who preaches to empty pews will soon need the services of the employment agency to set them to some new jobs. For religion, too, must to a certain extent be judged by the financial support it can command. The preacher who is doing the greatest amount of work for the good of his flock is sure to be picked out by the shrewd managers of church finances.

But when, by a cold-blooded arithmetical calculation, the cost of salvation is set down as amounting to so much per soul saved—$150 in one church, $250 in another and so on—we think that the limit of commercialism has been reached and that we are verging on the profane. Yet such tables have been drawn up by pious educators with all appear-

SCIENCE PROGRESS.

Cooper Hewitt, the inventor of the mercury light, has recently sought to remedy the disagreeable effect of the luminescent vapor by means of a special kind of reflector, provided with a fluorescent film that has the property of supplying the needed red waves of light. This depends upon the property possessed by certain fluorescent substances of absorbing the luminous energy incident upon them and restoring it in the form of light of greater wave-length, that is to say, closer to the red end of the spectrum. Experiments with this reflector have shown that it imparts to the light of the mercury lamp the red rays which are absent from the bare light emanating from the vapor in the tube.

The presence of calcium and copper in the atmosphere has been proved by Prof. W. N. Hartley of Dublin, who has recently photographed, in ordinary air, spectroscopic lines due, among other things, to calcium and copper. It is believed that they arise from fine dust consisting of those substances, projected into the atmosphere by road vehicles, and by smoke and the sparks of trolley wires. It is from the latter two sources that copper is supposed to come. But there is no cause for alarm, since the quantity of copper thus found is excessively slight. It is only the delicacy of the tests that renders it appreciable. Lines due to lead, carbon, iron, manganese, nickel and magnesium have also been detected, but the quantity of these substances is even less than that of the calcium and copper, the lines of which are always prominent in the spectra.

If newspaper reports may be credited, Dr. Tahara, president of the Tokio Hygienic Laboratory, has discovered a new and effective treatment for leprosy, the basis of which is the application of "tetrad toxin," a substance extracted from the poisonous elements of the globe fish.

The toxin recently was applied to the treatment of leprosy by Meara, Yoshikawa and Amazaki, young medical students of the Osaka Higher Medical School, with brilliant results, it is asserted.

George F. Becker notices that the great Appalachian oil-field in the area of the greatest variation of magnetic declination in the United States, and in glancing over a map of the magnetic declination for the whole country, he finds that the irregularities of the compass needles are strongly marked in the principal oil regions. Similar magnetic conditions have been observed in the oil region of the Caucasus. The facts go to bear out the assumption that great oil deposits are generated from iron carbides. But besides oil thus due to inorganic processes, Mr. Becker says that there are others which are undoubtedly of organic origin, derived from carbonaceous matter of vegetable or animal origin.

Successful transplantation of organs of the human body are being occasionally made in serious cases. Prof. Hermann Kattner of Breslau University has recently succeeded in giving a patient a new shoulder joint through transplantation.

The patient was suffering from a tuberculous shoulder joint, which it was found impossible to treat by the usual method of cutting away the diseased tissue. The surgeon, therefore, decided to transplant a joint from a man who had just died from water on the brain.

The joint was removed six hours after death and kept in a certain solution sixteen hours at a temperature just above freezing; then, after a bacteriological examination, it was inserted in the place of the tuberculous shoulder joint, both ball and socket of which had been removed. The wound healed without any inflammation developing.

At one of the hospitals in Brooklyn, N. Y., recently an extra piece of bone was inserted successfully into the tibia of the left leg of Mrs. Katherine Mary Neary who had suffered from necrosis of the tibia since she was a child of 14. Now she is 25. The operation, which was performed on July 13, consisted of removing the part of the bone that had been affected and then inserting a piece of bone from the leg of a person who had recently been killed in an accident. The foreign bone rapidly grew into the other bone, and Mrs. Neary has now an apparently perfectly healthy leg.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

My luck's been pretty dizzy for sundry weeks this fall, but when I get real busy I soon forget it all. My cabin roof is leaking, and rotten are the eaves; my windmill's always squeaking, my horse has got the hives.

My aunt, with fourteen bairns, has come to stay a year; my dog has got the rabbies, the cat is acting queer. Some tears I might be jerking, I might rear up and bawl, but I get busy working, and soon forget it all. Upon my toes an anvil fell down and drew the blood, and folks from here to Danville might hear the sickening thud; I fell into the cellar while walking in the dark, and from my sacred smellies knocked nearly all the bark; a darning needle pricked me when I sat down to read; my cow, she up and kicked me and made my features bleed. I've had enough of anguish to fill three hemispheres, but do I mope and languish, and sprawle things with tears? Ah, no, inquiring neighbor! Such conduct soon would pall! I buckle down to labor, and soon forget it all!

16 AMERICAN CHARACTER DISINTEGRATION.

[Current Literature (November):] A "profound deterioration" in American manners and morals was noted by Prof. Franklin H. Giddings, head of the Department of Sociology at Columbia University and president of the American Sociological Society, in a recent address before the New York School of Philanthropy. This deterioration, he said, has been going on for fifteen or twenty years, and presents an even more serious problem than that of poverty. Prof. Giddings' dismal views are shared by many publicists. Will Carleton, for instance, the poet-philosopher, whose rustic verse delighted the hearts of earlier generations, has lately been declaring, in an interview in the New York Times, his conviction that extravagance and greed are fast becoming the bane of American life. "We have world," he says, "and are now working too much for money without regard for infinitely better things, and some have wrecked their souls in doing so—in fact, their souls and minds and bodies." Few years will find who have notched the monies who have all three—soul, mind and body—left, and some of them have practically lost them all.

Charles Ferguson, in the New York American, is appalled by "our towering murder rate, our frenzied lynchings, our unparalleled callousness to the destruction of man-life and childhood in mines and mills, the spread of energizing luxury and prostitution, the increasing labor cost of the necessities of existence and the break-up of our national ethics into many distinct kinds of 'class-consciousness' with their warring codes."

DESPAIR.

How short the road that leads us to despair. When once we turn, how soon our feet are there.

How dark the valley and how dim the night That tries to pierce the darkness dense as night.

How welcome are the gleams of coming day. So slow to lighten up the clouded way.

How beautiful the path which leads us on To hillsides kissed by radiant dawn.

How glad the heart that battles with the storm.

To see at length each purple cloud transform.

FRANKIE AND HARRY KISS AND MAKE UP.

Conley Glad Gilmore Will Keep on Being His Manager and Gilmore's Glad Conley's Glad—Latter Can't See Joe Rivers at All and Expects to Relegate Him to "Has Been" Class.

"HARRY GILMORE and I have patched up our differences and he will be my manager from now on, just as if there had not been any kind of a quarrel between us."

This is the statement made last night by Frankie Conley and consequently the tempest in a teapot that boiled over the first of the week is now nothing but a gentle breeze sighing over tepid water.

Gilmore and Conley have kissed and made up simply because they fell on each other's necks, exchanged confidences, told each other that some other fellow had lied, and that they would play circus together again.

Incidentally Gilmore is to receive his one-third commission for managing Conley and agrees to take better care of Conley than he has in the past. This "better care" will consist of looking after Frankie following each fight, seeing that his eyes are taken care of if they have been punched, providing better trainers and sparring partners and cutting down the expense money somewhat.

"I am sorry that Harry and I ever fell out," said Frankie last night as he was making a lonely tour of the newspaper offices to tell how they had made up.

"He is a grand good fellow and a fine manager and all that. All this stuff you hear about me claiming he was using up my money too fast in training is the knock of a lot of boors who hang around and pretend to know all about things."

"Harry has always been square with me. He always gave meouchers for all the money he spent. There wasn't any kick on that. The trouble we had was over the way he took care of me."

"The truth is Harry wasn't on the job. He didn't stay around the fight camp as he should have. I went into the ring with Robbie so stiff from lack of proper training that I couldn't move around. Harry got me into the ring, then told me to move around and use a lot of foot work, but I couldn't. I was too stiff."

HOW THEY FELL OUT.

"I thought Harry was to blame because he had me jabbed by some old trainer who used to work for his father and he couldn't do it good."

"The other day when I was being rubbed I complained to one of the rubbers that I didn't think I was getting the right treatment. Some one had to go and tell Harry about it. He came right up and asked me if it was true and I told him yes, it was. Then he said he would quit as my manager."

"This afternoon he telephoned to me and said he would like to talk it over and I told him to come on out to the camp. He did so and we made up our differences. It's all right now. Harry's a grand good fellow."

"We continue to be my manager after the Rivers fight? Why, I suppose he will. Anyhow, as far as I am concerned he will; of course, I don't know what plans he may have in his own head."

"But don't get the idea that I couldn't get a manager. My own brother did more for me when he was my manager."

"The way I got in with Harry was that he came to me at my home back East about four months ago and wanted to manage me. He said he had about 25 per cent of a cut from Packy McLean for managing him and, well, I fell for it, third percentage for him to take me."

"I can stop that contract any time I want to, for the one I have with him is the one turned over to him by my brother. My brother was looking out for me for 20 per cent commission and yet on top of that I gave him $500 or $600 in addition, borrowed money after every fight. Youmotor cars in some of the worst

NEW HEAD OF COAST LEAGUE TO RUSH EAST.

Directors of Pacific Baseball Take Hasty Action Instead of Waiting Till December Meeting So That Graham's Successor Can Attend National Commission Meeting.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Allen T. Baum of this city, widely known as a sporting writer, was elected president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League last night by the telegraphic vote of the directors of the league.

Five favorable votes were received and the sixth vote is also known to be favorable. Baum succeeds Judge Thomas F. Graham of this city, who tendered his resignation a short time ago, owing to the press of judicial duties.

The election of President Baum was hastened to permit him to go to East next Monday, accompanied by Cal Ewing to attend the meeting of the National Baseball Commission in Cincinnati November 14. The Coast league men will attend as members of a committee from the National Association of Minor League Clubs.

Both Baum and Ewing will go to San Antonio, Tex., for the meeting of the minor league association, scheduled for November 15. They will meet there the other officers as well as representatives of every team in the Coast league.

It is stated here that an insurgent movement against the scope of the drafting power of the big league team is to make itself felt at San Antonio, and that the Coast league men are enrolled with the insurgents.

In that connection it is significant that this is the first time every team of the Coast league has planned to be represented at the annual meeting of the association. Besides Baum and Ewing, the following Coast leaguers will go to San Antonio: Secretary Danny Long, Frank Ish, representing the San Francisco club; Henry Berry, representing Los Angeles; Walter McCredie and Judge W. W. McCredie, representing Portland; Walter Bray (Happy Hogan), representing Vernon, Sacramento, and Harry Wolverton, Oakland.

The Pacific Coast League is one of the five class A leagues in the country, the others being the Eastern, American Association, Southern and Western leagues.

The Great Northern officers have arranged with the Canadian Steamship Company to hold the steamer Princess Charlotte, which will leave at 8 a.m. until 9:30, which will give the punters time to make the connection here. They are rushing West on the Great Northern Oriental Limited.

It is vital for the success of their arrangements with Hugh McIntosh, the Australian fight manager, that they can reach Australia in time for the opening of a series of big battles.

Bill Lang, Jack Lester and Joe Jeannette are already in the Argentine, and Lang is also to be attracted by one of the big McIntosh purses to give the Boston tar baby a chance at the championship.

PAPKE FIZZLE AS COME-BACK.

"Elimination" Contest Proves Disappointment.

Bob Moha of Milwaukee Has Easy Victory.

Crowd Calls on Referee to Stop Mill in Seventh.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
BOSTON, Oct. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Billy Papke, who started off an "elimination" contest at the Army A. A. Club, with Bob Moha of Milwaukee as the first to be eliminated, met with dire disappointment in his come-back campaign. Papke was so badly outclassed that Moha hammered him almost at will and after the seventh round the spectators were demanding that the referee stop the unequal battle.

Mohu depended upon Papke's batton tonight, as effecting his future in the ring. There have been grave doubts as to his condition, and even his ardent supporters feared he had gone back too badly ever to regain his old "thunderbolt" form.

Papke himself was supremely confident, but after the early stages of the mill, it was painfully apparent that he lacked steam, skill and staying qualities.

He went into the ring tonight with two purposes. First to thump Moha into the ring, wipe out all memory of his late punts showing against Bill Burke. A dark brown taste still hangs among every follower of Papke and he was required to make a spectacular showing tonight to wipe it out.

The crowd of fans that witnessed the affair will never forget it, for it was without exception, the worst exhibition ever seen in Boston.

The majority of the spectators were satisfied that it was a draw-up, but Papke denied this. He claimed that he was "all in," and that he was going back to his home and never again enter the ring.

Moha, besides lacking a good crowd, broke his right hand in the first round and the way that he hit Papke with both hands made it look certain to the fans that the affair had been cooked by the pair.

The referee became suspicious after the second round and then dimly warned the boxers that he would stop the bout if they didn't show better work, but the warnings made no difference. It was the same old thing over and over again, with the fans showing their disgust with various kinds of calls.

When the last round was on the crowd began yelling "Don't ring the bell," and the timekeeper granted the request by walking away and letting the pair pull and haul each other about the ring. Moha hitting Papke in the body occasionally.

HOLD STEAMER FOR FIGHTERS.

BIG SAM LANGFORD AND POKER FLYNN HUSTLING.

Heavyweights Racing Against Time Must Leave for Australia on Zealandia in Order to Keep an Agreement With Promoter McIntosh—Others Already There.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SEATTLE (Wash.), Oct. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Through the combined efforts of the Great Northern Railway and the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company, it will not be necessary for Sam Langford and Poker Flynn, the heavyweight pugilists, to charter a special steamer to catch the liner Zealandia for Australia tomorrow.

The Great Northern officers have arranged with the Canadian Steamship Company to hold the steamer Princess Charlotte, which will leave at 8 a.m. until 9:30, which will give the punters time to make the connection here. They are rushing West on the Great Northern Oriental Limited.

It is vital for the success of their arrangements with Hugh McIntosh, the Australian fight manager, that they can reach Australia in time for the opening of a series of big battles.

Bill Lang, Jack Lester and Joe Jeannette are already in the Argentine, and Lang is also to be attracted by one of the big McIntosh purses to give the Boston tar baby a chance at the championship.

STEIN BEATS NITCHIE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Through the St. Moritz Sporting Club tonight Joe Stein defeated Young Nitchie of Philadelphia. Stein was the only knockout of the bout in the fifth round, with a right-hand swing to the jaw.

WOLGSTAD ENROUTE FOR VERNON RING.

(A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Ad Wolgast, champion lightweight, is on his way to Los Angeles, where he expects to meet Freddie Welsh, the English fighter, on Thanksgiving Day.

Wolgast, it is said, has given up all hope of securing a match in New York.

Odd Fellow.
CAREER OF ARMSTRONG.

The Champion "Rough-neck"
Dramatist of Them All.
Has Had Big Success, Ponderous Failures.

His Works Figure in Local Entertainment.

BY JOHN H. BLACKWOOD.

Playwright Paul Armstrong has been prominently identified with Los Angeles stage offerings for the past fortnight or so, and his name promises to appear on a local programme for at least another two weeks, for his most pretentious vaudeville offering, "A Romance of the Underworld," is the headline feature of the current Orpheum bill. In addition to this brief play of criminal life in Gotham, Armstrong's "Alias Jimmy Valentine" delighted patrons of the Hamburger Majestic Theater last week, while at the same time the author's versatility was well attested by the success of the Burbank Stock Company with "Going Some," with which his pen also dabbles.

Before Paul Armstrong tried his hand at dramatic writing he was famous for his work as sporting editor of a New York paper. His name de glume, "Right Crowd," was the biggest signature of his kind in journalistic circles, and as Armstrong knew pretty much what he was writing about, his articles bore the stamp of authenticity, and he carried no little weight with those who like the fighting game.

Armstrong has tried drawing down royalties from his stage writing with "The Heli to the Hoosier." The fact was later brought out in a court trial that the dramatist found his inspiration for this likeable comedy in a magazine story, "The Transmogrification of Dan." There followed a pretty rapid succession of a dramatization of Bret Harte's story, "Salomy Jane," "Going Some" and "Alias Jimmy Valentine."

Several years ago Armstrong was haunted with the idea that the theatrical managers of the metropolis did not appreciate him at his real worth and that they were banded together for the especial purpose of keeping a new play of his from the footlights.

"Anybody can run a theater," argued Armstrong to himself, "but it takes a genuine genius to write a great play, and once upon a time at a country fair a gypsy whose hand I crossed with gold, told me I was headed for the genius class. Guess I must have arrived, so what ho; I will rent a theater and run it myself and show these wise guy managers some new tricks in their own game."

Which will account for Armstrong's renting Daly's theater for the purpose of presenting "Society and the Bull Dog," under his own management. Was it a success?

Zowie. But Armstrong had associated with pugilists long enough to know what the count of ten means and in this particular instance the great New York theater-going public was the referee and "Society and the Bull Dog" was rushed to the warehouse, while the dramatist has ever after been content to let real managers take chances on the output of his typewriter.

Armstrong has been singularly successful in collaboration with other writers. In the case of "Going Some," Tex Beach contributed the idea with his magazine story; for "Alias Jimmy Valentine," the late O. Henry supplied the theme in his story "A Retrieved Reformation," in Armstrong's most recent success, "The Deep Purple," Wilson Mizner, a former ORAL good offers right now, but I don't know what I will do with these.

"Why, when my brother had me under his charge he got me that Coulon outfit in New Orleans and my brother got $2000 guaranteed and 25 per cent of the gross and Coulon got but $2000 and 20 per cent. I guess that's going some."

TODAY'S CONFERENCE.

According to the new arrangement, Gilmore will confer today with Manager McCary and Manager Levy for Rivers, in regard to the weight question and a possible postponement of the bout for one week, or until November 18. This weight matter was suggested about a week ago by Manager Levy but he thought Rivers could make 125 pounds better than he could 124.

When asked about this last night Conley said that he would know today at 11 o'clock after the conference between the managers as to the best time to postpone he would knock off work for a week; if the weight was changed to 125 pounds he would demand some or all of that $250 forfeit money that had been put up by Rivers to make 124 pounds, and if the weight was kept at 124 pounds he would not consent to any postponement.

PITCHER OVERALL TO QUIT GAME FOR MINES.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Orval Overall, former star pitcher of the Chicago Cubs and who assisted that team in winning the world's baseball championship, arrived here today.

Overall says he has renounced the diamond forever and that henceforth he will devote his attention to mining interests.

Overall said that Mordac Brown, the "three-fingered wonder" of the Cubs, would join him here next week.

"Of course, I don't want to crab Joe," he said last night, "especially right here in his home town. But I can't help him. He is a boy and he deserves the best money and taken the last punishment of any fighter I ever heard of. He has never fought any one who hurt him."

Conley is cheerfully indifferent about Rivers and his weight.

He can't see Rivers at all.

"Well, we will see how he is on taking a rough beating when we get into the ring."

"I swear that after this fight, Joe might as well put away his diamond, get a nice suit of working clothes and start earning his living. He won't get many more fights with featherweights.

As a lightweight, Joe would be a boy like Welson."

"Or even a man like George Memmick?"

"Why, this boy Mandot will murder him if Joe gets a fight with him, as he says. No, there's nothing to it. Joe has seen the best part of his fight career already."

"Monte Attell hurt me," declares Conley, "and if you hear Attell or I did, Rivers won't scare me. Ask Coulon what he thinks of me, or inquire of Joe Mandot who is a tough guy. Monte Attell is a fine boxer, but they had to lead him out of the ring after he got through fighting me."

OLD TIME BOXER HARRY PEPPERS IN TOWN AGAIN.

Harry Peppers, one of the old-time fighters who was a star fifteen or twenty years ago, returned to this city yesterday after an absence of twenty years.

He has been sick for several years and probably comes back for his health and with him he brings memories of the old days of the ring. He arrived here in 1891 with old Peter Smith. In the party were Solly Smith, Frank Childs and Harry Jones, and Peter brought them as his guests, the four boys having won a number of the fights each had had around San Francisco.

Peppers had several bouts here at that time and one of these was with George LaBlanche, the famous "Machine," who became famous by using LaBlanche's pivot swing with which to knock out Jack Dempsey in San Francisco in August, 1889. He also fought a six-round draw with Hugo Kelly nine years ago and had his last battle three years ago with Charlie White in La Jolla, Colo.

DORN BACK IN HARNESS.

Norman Dorn, who played for two seasons on the Los Angeles football team, has again turned out for practice this week. The first year he played at side rank in the scrum and last year he was a tower of strength at second five. A twisted knee has been bothering him for some time, and he did not want to take any chances with it up to the present.

Dorn, who will be a valuable addition to the squad, as the team is far below the usual standard in this regard. If he can get back into form, he will be used in the scrum, as the back field seems to be all that is desired in most respects.

Sizing 'Em Up.
UMP PICKS
STAR TEAM

Finney Says Hoffman's Most Troublesome Player.

Considers Ables of Oaks the Best Pitcher.

Carl Mazzett Is by Far the Finest Outfielder.

BY ED FINNEY.

Umpire Pacific Coast League. The hardest man in the Pacific Coast League to get along with is Outfielder Hoffman of the Oakland team, but at that I never had much trouble with any of the players. The trouble with Hoffman is that he is a natural crisper, kicks on everything and wants everything in his favor, but off the ball field he is a fine fellow.

I think I got along very well with all the players the past season. All I collected in fines was $140, while last year the sum was twice as large. The Oakland team was the hardest to control, for I put a greater number of those fellows out of the game than any other bunch of players. For Portland I have put out Barry and McCredie, and for Sacramento the only player I can remember as having fired off the field was O'Rourke, Dally, Dillon and Smith were put off for the Los Angeles team, Mohler and McArdle for the Seals and several of the Vernon players.

Of course Harry Hogan was one of those, but he is always kicking for every point in the game.

None of the teams were easy to handle, for no ball team is, but I do not know of any real rough players and none are bad actors.

I think the best pitcher in the league was Ables of the Oakland club. He put more stuff on the ball than any other flinger and was always the hardest man for a team to beat when he was anyway near right. When he was himself he worked so easily that it was a pleasure to watch him. The only thing against him was that he did not always have the best control. He certainly pitched some grand games this season.

Berry, Kuhn, Mitz and Schmidt were the best catchers in the league, but I would hardly know which one to pick as the best of the four. With few exceptions all of them did fine work all year. Kuhn and Schmidt are good big league prospects.

Berry is to be a natural hitter in the league for a long time off either right or left handers, but of course he has off days, like all other players. He is not only a hard hitter, but a dangerous man to come to bat with a man on bases. All the pitchers were afraid of him and they had occasion to be, for he hit all of them.

Dorn is the best first baseman in the league, for while he may not be able to hit what a first sacker is supposed to, he knows the game. I really do not now who I would put at second for the best man in the league, for there are several good ones.

Pechinbaugh, Delmas and McArdle are the best shortstops, and while Pechinbaugh is the best, McArdle is a better hitter. Delmas shined at snappy throws and considering everything, he is the best one here, but I believe I would take Peck.

Vitt is the best third sacker, but his health is bad and he is never sure of playing.

Metzger is another fine one at first, third, for he is not only a class one, but players have never caused an injury any trouble.

I think Madden and Kane are the best base runners, while Mazzett is by far the best outfielder, being a hard hitter, a fine fielder and a great base runner, although he does not lead the league in anything. He is hard to control and does not take much of his time.

Any man can have his opinion, but these are my picks after watching all of them all season.

IN A SECOND AT HOLLYWOOD.

The second string of Rugby artists from the Los Angeles High School will journey out to Hollywood today to mix up with Coach Webster's first squad. Not the strongest line-up for Los Angeles that time, as the latter team is putting up a classy brand of football. They had the ball in Redlands' territory practically all the time last Saturday, and should have scored at least once more.

Chet Allen, who is playing second fiddle to the Hollywood Rugby team is the best back in the South. He has figured in almost all the gains made by his team, and is also to be depended upon to cover his man on the defense. This is his second year at the position, and he has shown improvement in every contest.

NEW HOCKEY RULES.

The game of hockey is liable to undergo a complete change this winter as a result of the National Hockey Association, thus reducing the number of players on a team from seven to six. The new rule approved by the legislative committee of the association will be finally adopted at the meeting of the association in December. The player to be eliminated is the rover. It is considered that this will make the game much faster and will also tend to make it more open, but followers of the sport are not of one mind on the radical change.

Much to the surprise, however, of the most recent departure, October, has proven a very productive month, and while some of the larger ones are now and have been holding back results, yet a great many others have been turning in fast in an endeavor to heighten their standing in the bulletin.

FACTS, FEATURES
FOR
BY OLIVE GRAY

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: A rare smile is one of the most beautiful things which a woman can cultivate. I mean the term "rare" in two senses of the word. I mean it to convey the idea of beauty, as we speak of a rarely beautiful flower; and I mean it also as rare in occurrence. To wear a perpetual smile is a mistake. A smile should break across the features as the sunshine breaks from behind the clouds. I have in mind a friend whose greatest charm is her smile. Her face is usually rather serious, for she is a thinking woman, but when an enlivening thought occurs to her, or when moved to sympathy, that illuminating smile irradiates her countenance and it is almost divine.

A success scrap-book is what I discovered in the possession of one of my friends. Now, I think, that, as a rule, a scrap-book is a relic of the days when women spent their time cutting up rags to sew them together again to make rag carpet; and present-day time is too valuable for that—but this is such a novel sort of scrap-book that I was impressed with its value.

The leaves of the success scrap-book are filled with clippings relative to the success which came to this person and that, after many trials and great perseverance. All are, so far as known, based upon actual occurrences, which makes them the more inspiring.

I do not know how much my friend pores over this inspiration scrap-book herself, but I do know that she has cheerfully met many failures and apparently conquered their sting. That is not though, the best use to which her success scrap-book is put: She uses it to others who need its cheering influence.

Whether it is because of the success scrap-book or simply because of herself—and I fancy the latter—her shade is always a mecca for those who need consolation or encouragement. "It would be a sad day for me," said she recently, "if the time were to come when I could no longer be poor to give at least a little time to encouraging those who come to me. Money is less often needed than is the sustaining and encouraging hand of the friend who understands the trials met in life's struggle."

A Sweet Novelty. One of the girls showed me a gift which was sweet in more than one sense of the word.

It was a wicker settee, prettily woven and sufficiently substantial for the use of a good-sized doll—but the recipient has passed the age. Lift the lid of the seat and, behold! the nest of confectons! A big blue of dainty blue ribbon, placed like a "dy" upon the nest, the settee gives just a hint of its sweet purpose as a confectionery receptacle.

"I shall use the pretty thing," she said, "after the sweets are all tasted to stow away trinkets upon my dressing table."

I learned that the gift came from one of the local confectionery establishments, which I had "tasted the taste" of the candies. I thought I knew why the business of that firm has grown to such proportions in our city.

Trimmings. Some trimmings fine gold to border silver lace—don't you think? But that is the latest which has been done in the newest hand trimmings. I saw some examples in a high-class French importing house on Broadway. The bands were about six or eight inches in width and the bold floral designs were filled in with silk thread in colors, leaving the silver as a background. The effect was extremely rich.

For Christmas. A pretty Christmas gift, and one which would be found useful by either man or woman, is a small fish pin cushion. It is made thus: Cut from cardbord the shape of a fish. Cut in the middle a layer of cotton wadding. Place a sprinle of sachet between the leaves if you wish—(just to detract from the fish odor!) Then cut from gray striped or speckled silk an outer cover and sew it smoothly "over and over" around the edges. Now place the pins all around to form the fins. A little effort, so much to make, will be appreciated when something larger and more expensive might be laid aside and forgotten.

Fancy and Useful. In a large china store on Hill street I saw a very pretty and useful receptacle for spices, salt and other kitchen necessaries. They were in blue and white with Delft designs, and the blue was so low as to tempt the most extravagant of housewives.

Handy and Cleanly. The Good Housekeeper has a new way of keeping the gas range tidy without the everlasting cleaning which so often forms one of the heavier tasks of the kitchen. She has a piece of galvanized iron which covers the entire top of the range and the edges are turned up, to keep anything which might be spilled from running over and onto the floor. The gas heats quite rapidly through the tin as when it is on the heat which spreads over the metal answer to keep warm the plates and other dishes upon which it is to be placed. I think this is the most ingenious plan that I have seen; and it costs little to put into effect.

For Fancy-work. One of the Broadway stores has a novelty in the way of a bag for carrying fancy-work to the afternoon tea. The bag is made from raffia in natural shade and has a front flap with a lace or crocheted "round and round" and run on a tasseled string or ribbon. The lining is of pretty, light colors. The bags are reasonable in price and would be a pretty addition to the costume.

SURPRISE TO PRINCIPAL. Miss Kate Ogden, who has been principal of the Training School at the Los Angeles State Normal School for the past seven years, was yesterday treated to a pleasant surprise by the teachers and children of the school. On the occasion of her birthday, Recitations, compositions and songs were presented, turning on the subject of the birthday. There were also gymnastic exhibitions and scenes from several dramas, and the girls of the cooking school served a delicate Thanksgiving turkey. It becoves luncheon.

The foyer of the Hamburger Majestic Theater has been very materially beautified by the addition of new sets of a useful, graceful and black mixture and by the installation of a ten-foot oblong vase of Kingstone in which are a wealth of rare palms. Another innovation that has just been introduced at the Majestic is the doing away with the distributing of programmes in the foyer of the house. Instead of the usual method of distribution patrons of the Majestic find their bills of the play folded and in a small holder in front of their seats.

A hasty change in the play schedule of the Belasco Theater makes "The Melting Pot" follow "The Dawn of Tomorrow." The continuing success of Mrs. Frances Hodge's Burmese play has been the cause of no little managerial worry, for "The Melting Pot" and "The Chorus Lady" contracts both call for production before November 15th, and "The Dawn of Tomorrow" fills the Belasco at every performance this presents a most difficult and trying problem.

Mr. Zangwill's American agents insist that "The Melting Pot" be played within the time limit specified in the contract and promised to forfeit a royalty of almost $1000 per performance. The case of "The Chorus Lady" is identical. Mr. Forbes, the author, withdrew Los Angeles from the list of cities to be visited by a traveling company on account of his contract with Mr. Zangwill's company, but he, too, wants his play produced according to contract, or else other royalty of altitudinous sort paid.

That Los Angeles' music-loving public is anxious for the two weeks' season of grand operas to be inaugurated by the Lamondi company at the Majestic Theater next Sunday night with "Il Trovatore" as the bill, is indicated by the unusually large number of mail orders that have reached the Majestic ticket department, not only from Los Angeles, but from the surrounding towns. The sale of seats for the first week of the Lamondi engagement will commence tomorrow morning.

Tailored skirts are not so straight in outline, many showing slashed effects at the sides, and all made walking length.

Suits are now being made an important part of gowns in that they are forming square trains at the end of the long skirts.

Braid and buttons are combined to give a dashing military effect which is quite evident on many long coats and jackets with full skirts.

A fair of the simpler coats are made to fasten over the left shoulder in shield effect, and are finished at the neck with a military collar.

There is now a well-developed tendency for the handbag matching the hat and for this reason new handbags appear in every store.

The vogue for pile fabrics is on the increase. Coats of velour, plush, velvet and other materials of this character are in high demand.

In the very fine gowns from Paris, combinations of black and white are seen, as well as the trimmings of gold, silver, heavy lace and fur.

The low side fastening is prominent in new wraps, particularly those for evening, some of which are slightly draped, and caught up at the lower left.

Colored velvets, velours and plushes are being employed for evening wraps, but mostly in high-priced garments, as only the finest qualities look well in colors.

HIS CAR CRUSHES LIFE FROM LITTLE ITALIAN GIRL.

Motorman Rushes from the Scene of the Accident, Is Taken to First and Spring Streets in Police Automobile, Collapses and Is Taken to Hospital.

Made frantic by seeing a little girl ground to death beneath the wheels, a crowd of Italians surrounded the car on Lamar street, near Main, yesterday afternoon and threatened the life of the motorman, John Coward. The police were called to conduct the crew to safety.

Many Buccolo, 2 years old, was the child who was killed. She was playing on the north side of Lamar street and apparently did not see the car approaching. When it was about to pass her she tried to cross the track. The car was running about ten miles an hour and the motorman was unable to stop it in time to prevent the wheels passing over her little body.

With a cry of anguish, Mrs. George Buccolo, the child's mother, who lives at No. 455 Lamar street, ran toward the car to rescue the child. About twenty other Italians were near by, and they ran toward the car, picking up sticks as they went.

One woman stepped upon the front of the car and hysterically shrieked that she was going to kill the motorman. Some cooler person restrained her and the motorman applied the power and the car drew away from the crowd. The end of the track was but two blocks away, and there the car was stopped. The motorman, Coward and Conductor McArthur entered a restaurant to report the accident to the office of the Los Angeles Railway.

The crowd seemed to lose interest in the car after it had gone a few feet, and none followed. The mangled form of the child was tenderly pressed to the mother's bosom and taken to the office of the Los Angeles Railway.

The police took Coward and McArthur to First and Spring streets in an automobile and there allowed them to go to the office of the company unattended. A few minutes after stepping from the police machine, Coward collapsed and was taken to the Crocker-Street Hospital.

The Coroner will conduct an investigation today.

The sale of seats for the first week of the Lamondi engagement will commence tomorrow morning.

Tailored skirts are not so straight in outline, many showing slashed effects at the sides, and all made walking length.

Suits are now being made an important part of gowns in that they are forming square trains at the end of the long skirts.

Braid and buttons are combined to give a dashing military effect which is quite evident on many long coats and jackets with full skirts.

A fair of the simpler coats are made to fasten over the left shoulder in shield effect, and are finished at the neck with a military collar.

There is now a well-developed tendency for the handbag matching the hat and for this reason new handbags appear in every store.

The vogue for pile fabrics is on the increase. Coats of velour, plush, velvet and other materials of this character are in high demand.

In the very fine gowns from Paris, combinations of black and white are seen, as well as the trimmings of gold, silver, heavy lace and fur.

The low side fastening is prominent in new wraps, particularly those for evening, some of which are slightly draped, and caught up at the lower left.

Colored velvets, velours and plushes are being employed for evening wraps, but mostly in high-priced garments, as only the finest qualities look well in colors.

Motorman Rushes from the Scene of the Accident, Is Taken to First and Spring Streets in Police Automobile, Collapses and Is Taken to Hospital.

Made frantic by seeing a little girl ground to death beneath the wheels, a crowd of Italians surrounded the car on Lamar street, near Main, yesterday afternoon and threatened the life of the motorman, John Coward. The police were called to conduct the crew to safety.

Many Buccolo, 2 years old, was the child who was killed. She was playing on the north side of Lamar street and apparently did not see the car approaching. When it was about to pass her she tried to cross the track. The car was running about ten miles an hour and the motorman was unable to stop it in time to prevent the wheels passing over her little body.

With a cry of anguish, Mrs. George Buccolo, the child's mother, who lives at No. 455 Lamar street, ran toward the car to rescue the child. About twenty other Italians were near by, and they ran toward the car, picking up sticks as they went.

One woman stepped upon the front of the car and hysterically shrieked that she was going to kill the motorman. Some cooler person restrained her and the motorman applied the power and the car drew away from the crowd. The end of the track was but two blocks away, and there the car was stopped. The motorman, Coward and Conductor McArthur entered a restaurant to report the accident to the office of the Los Angeles Railway.

The crowd seemed to lose interest in the car after it had gone a few feet, and none followed. The mangled form of the child was tenderly pressed to the mother's bosom and taken to the office of the Los Angeles Railway.

The police took Coward and McArthur to First and Spring streets in an automobile and there allowed them to go to the office of the company unattended. A few minutes after stepping from the police machine, Coward collapsed and was taken to the Crocker-Street Hospital.

The Coroner will conduct an investigation today.

SURPRISE TO PRINCIPAL.

There were also gymnastic exhibitions and scenes from several dramas, and the girls of the cooking school served a delicate Thanksgiving turkey. It becoves luncheon.

Another Delay is Allowed in the Trial of Lawyer Thompson, but This is Positively the Last.

On the representation made to Judge Wellborn in the United States District Court yesterday that neither of the attorneys retained in behalf of Fred H. Thompson, charged with receiving stolen money, could possibly appear in his behalf, the case was postponed until a week from Thursday. This is with the understanding that it will certainly be commenced on that day. Thompson's attorneys are Davis and Rush. The former is engaged in the McNamara dynamite case and Rush will be busy in the trials at Santa Ana trying the Overacker murder case for a week or more.

ONE DAY, THE OTHER DAY.

Former Arrested on Charge of Having Forged Letter's Name to Bank Draft and Cashied It.

Ray A. White, who was brought back from San Francisco last Saturday by Deputy Constable Perdue of Judge Reeves' court to face a charge of forgery, was arraigned yesterday. His preliminary examination was set for tomorrow, with bail fixed at $1000. The complaint against White alleges that he forged the name of Roy A. White to a $300 draft addressed to a Hollywood resident of that name and received it back through a mistake. The draft was drawn on the International Savings and Exchange Bank.

When White received the order through the mail, it is alleged, he called at the bank and introduced himself as Roy A. White. He was told that he would have to get someone to identify him and was accompanied by Patrolman Dunkan. The latter informed the cashier that White's initials were R. A., basing his knowledge upon two years' association with him in the Philippines.

The identification satisfied the cashier, the money was paid to White. Shortly afterward the real Roy A. White appeared, and the mistake was discovered.

BATHTUBS ALL ALONG THE LINE.

ESPEE CARING WELL FOR ITS EMERGENCY MEN.

State Board of Railroad Commissioners to Begin Hearing of the Harbor Rate Case Today—Road Offers Ten Thousand Dollars for Arrest of Dynamiters.

Following its customary policy, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company is caring for the men who entered its employ following the walkout of part of the shopmen September 30 in the most thorough and up-to-date manner.

H. V. Platt, general superintendent of the southern district, returned to Los Angeles yesterday from an inspection of the camps between this city and El Paso, including the branch line centers.

"At all the camps we are following the same method pursued here," said Platt. "We provide hot and cold water, shower and tub baths, a barber shop, individual wash basins, towels and soap, and every other feature that contributes to sanitary conditions and the comfort of the men. We are taking as good care of them as though they were in their own homes, until such time as they can bring their own families. Most of the men are married and anxious, of course, to be joined by their families. We have evidence of the keen appreciation of the care taken by the company in their comfort and care.

Following its customary policy, the Southern Pacific will leave this morning for an inspection of the company camps at Fresno, Bakersfield and other points in the San Joaquin Valley.

Rate Hearing Today.

The indications are that the State Board of Railroad Commissioners will be overwhelmed with evidence touching the reasonableness of the contention for a rehearing in the case involving freight rates between Los Angeles and the harbor at the hearing in the Supreme Court building today.

A. S. Haisted, general counsel of the Salt Lake Railroad, has prepared briefs showing that the enforcement of the rate schedules recently ordered by the commissioners would put that company out of business before the city and the port, with no benefit to the consignee or shipper by reason of the reduction in rates. In a statement which has been sent to the commission, the Salt Lake Railroad points out that while the order was made to apply only against the Southern Pacific, it is obvious that the former company must meet the rates of its competitor or go out of business.

C. W. Durbow, special attorney for the Southern Pacific, arrived in Los Angeles last night to represent that company at the hearing.

Reward for Dynamiters.

Notice has been received in Los Angeles that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company has offered a reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the person who placed dynamite in the frog of a switch at Elwood station, on the San Joaquin bridge, north of Santa Barbara. Previous to the passage of the train carrying President Taft to Los Angeles thirty-eight sticks of dynamite were found under the El Capitan. A few days later forty sticks of the same explosive were found in the frog of a switch at Elwood, over which the Lark from San Francisco passed without injury.

Dry Goods King Coming.

Lymon Stewart of the New York dry goods firm, and Mrs. Stewart, will arrive in Los Angeles this morning in the private car Olivette, on the Santa Fe Railroad.

INSPECT INDIAN RECLAIMED LAND.

TWO OFFICIALS OF INTERIOR DEPARTMENT HERE.

Discuss With Local Electrical Engineer of Reclamation Service the Work as it Relates to This State. Three Million Acres Under Irrigation in California.

Samuel Adams, First Assistant Secretary of the Interior Department, and F. H. Newell, director of the Reclamation Service, Washington, were callers yesterday on Orville L. Ensign, electrical engineer of the United States Reclamation Service, in the Federal building, where the work of the department, especially as it relates to California, was informally discussed. Secretary Adams has been discussing over the irrigation projects in the various Indian reservations.

Newell made an examination of what is known as the Yuma project and the Roosevelt Dam, a project that cost the government $4,000,000 and conserves 1,200,000 acre-feet of water. The Laramie Dam, a few miles north of Yuma, was also visited. Here the character of the construction is similar to the plan employed by the British government in India.

The water from this dam is diverted from the Colorado and from the Colorado River and after it has been diverted about sixteen miles it is dropped eighteen feet and then the big inverted siphon under the river at Yuma is completed. The lands in that section will be supplied with water. This siphon, a steel tube fourteen feet in diameter, is driven through the solid rock beneath the surface of the river about 120 feet.

Under the working of the Orland proposition in Sacramento county, 10,000 acres will be reclaimed, and this is the most ambitious proposition in this state, in itself, but small in comparison with other reclamation plans of the government.

According to the figures of Newell there are about 2,000,000 acres of land now under irrigation in this state. From Los Angeles Newell will visit the Klamath reclamation project in Oregon, where 10,000 acres have been reclaimed, and going East will look into the Carson-Truckee enterprise in Nevada. It was asserted by Newell that the high price demanded for these lands operates against their rapid settlement, and that when that fact is eliminated thousands of colonists will take advantage of the opportunity to secure fine agricultural land.

The indications are that the State Board of Railroad Commissioners will be overwhelmed with evidence touching the reasonableness of the contention for a rehearing in the case involving freight rates between Los Angeles and the harbor at the hearing in the Supreme Court building today.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Los Angeles Daily Times.

Magnet was not man enough for Marjorie, but he was the only man she knew until Trafford dropped from the sky in the nick of time. And so Marjorie married, but did they live happily forever after? You don't know Wells. This was merely the beginning of "Marriage," H. G. Wells' story in The American Magazine. For Marjorie was frightfully extravagant; Trafford was not rich, and soon there was the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker—as well as the devil—to pay. All the humor and drama and human nature that made "Tono-Bungay" and "Mr. Polly" the best books you ever read, make "Marriage" a better book than either.

"Marriage"

Money, the most talked about in life, the least discussed in fiction, of all the many sources of trouble between husband and wife. In a thoroughly unexpected and Wells-like manner the author solves it, not by abolishing Marjorie's extravagance or Trafford's indigence. No! By abolishing the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, and the dressmaker and jeweler as well. How? That's the story, a story so natural and yet so surprising that you will exclaim, "How true, and yet how interesting!"

of high pressure is moving slowly from the gan and Illinois. The following heavy prescipitation (in inches) is reported: Galveston,

44; Jackson, 44; St. Louis, 44. The depression over

PRETENDED SLAYER.

them into the Knickerbocker Cafe, where they had a late dinner. At that moment I decided that my sister had been trifled with, and I made up my mind to demand an explanation from her fiance, who until that hour had enjoyed an untroubled repose in the sole of a well-to-do home in the same line of trade as my father.

"Brutally he repulsed me when I questioned him, and told me to go about my business, all of which added to the fact that even at that time he was ready to proceed.

Moses then took up the thread of his story, leading up to the night of the tragedy, when he shot Brooks in the breast, inflicting a wound that resulted in death two days later.

"After I had been repulsed by my future brother-in-law I wanted to go to my father and tell him all, but something in my heart told me that it would be best to take the matter in my own hand.

"Accordingly, I decided to postpone my demand for an explanation until the next night, and so I went to a hotel. I left my father's house and went to Brooks's home, at No. 1111 Madison avenue, to wait until he returned after a night in the tender-loin.

"I saw him coming up the street alone and uttered an expression of the fact that he had an indignant brother to deal with. He walked toward the entrance of his apartments and was withdrawing the key to the door when I called to him to stop.

"I demand to know your intentions toward my sister, and why you associate with women known all over New York," I asked.

"When he failed to reply in a satisfactory manner I drew my pistol and fired twice in succession. The first ball went wild, but the second caught him full in the chest and I saw him fall. I then turned away horrified.

CONFESSES TO FATHER.

Moses then said that he started to run down Madison avenue and came upon a taxicab, in which he drove to the home of his father, to whom he confessed all.

"According to the young man's statement, he was advised to leave New York at once, and with a well-filled purse in his pocket he caught the Chicago Limited and landed in the Windy City the next night.

Without waiting to see the city, Moses says he bought a ticket to San Francisco, where he arrived a few days later.

Rather than risk his liberty by remaining in a large city where he believed all of the police officers would be on the lookout for him, Moses went to Colfax, where he obtained employment, he says, as a cowboy on a ranch owned by Julius Lippert, at the foot of the Sierra. He stayed there, he says, until a few days ago, when he decided to write to his wife in a code learned by them as children, and in due course of time, he says he received a letter from his wife telling him that Brooks had been in Bellevue Hospital for days after the shooting.

From that moment Moses says he was unable to sleep in peace, and was continually dreaming of being arrested and sentenced to the death chair, until at last life under these conditions became unbearable, and he decided to give it up.

Moses heard from the Los Angeles police were among the squared in the world, Moses says he wanted to enter jail here, knowing that it would be several weeks before being returned East for trial.

Accordingly he bought a ticket for this city and arrived early yesterday morning, going direct to the Antlers Hotel on West Fourth street, where he engaged a room for the night.

HARD TO DECIDE.

Later in the day he said that he was unable to stand the strain any longer, and started for the police station to give himself up.

For more than an hour he walked up and down in front of the station, unable to make up his mind. He was the best thing to do. At last his sense of justice prevailed, he says, and nervously himself for the ordeal, he walked into the Chief's office.

At first there were many points in the story that the police were unable to understand, those who heard the recital believed that Moses told the truth.

When questioned by newspaper men and detective later in the night, Moses repeated the same tale and expressed himself as being ready to go back at once.

BRITISH RAILWAY STATISTICS.

Authorized Capital Decreased Our Nineteen Millions. Large Increase of Working Expenses.

[Consular Reports:] According to recent statistics relating to the working of the railway companies of the United Kingdom for the year 1910, the total amount of authorized capital at the end of the year was $4,508,232,509, or some $19,466,000 less than the total at the end of 1909. No other decrease in the total amount of authorized capital has been recorded during the last forty years.

The average rate of dividend on the ordinary capital was 3.48 per cent in 1910, as compared with 3.15 per cent in 1909. The average rate of dividend on the preferential capital rose from 3.46 per cent in 1909 to 3.61 per cent last year, and the rates on the other classes of capital remained substantially unchanged. It is remarked that the rates are naturally lower than they would have been had there been no nominal addition to the paid-up capital of the companies.

The total of $555,754,300 railway receipts (not including the receipts from miscellaneous sources, such as steamship, cable, docks, rents, tolls, etc.) reported a sum of $23,712 per mile of track at the end of the year for traffic, as against $23,135 per mile in 1909. The receipts from first-class passengers, which had decreased yearly in 1906-1908 and remained practically stationary in 1909, showed a marked recovery in 1910. The receipts from second-class passengers have again shown a tendency to decline.

The working expenses rose from $365,172,427 in 1909 to $372,627,905 in 1910. The amount expended on cutting and clearing the companies rose from $26,575,876 in 1909 to $27,315,664 in 1910, and there was a small increase in their expenditure on materials for the repair of locomotives.

At the close of 1910 the length of line (in equivalent of single track) was 12,000 miles, of which there were 205 miles, and 229.54 miles were being worked partly by electricity. The corresponding lengths of line at the end of 1909 were 2011.2 and 229.24 miles, respectively. The total quantity of electrical energy used in 1910 as compared with 218,976,973 in 1909, day in order to give the lawyers and court attaches an opportunity to cast their votes.

MEMORY REFRESHED.

R. H. Fitzgerald, the mysterious "tall, slim gentleman" of the defense, who was put on as a witness in an effort to impeach the testimony of Talesman Johnson, was again examined yesterday. On the previous afternoon he was unable to remember much about the matter, but he appeared in court yesterday with his memory "refreshed."

He said he had been over to Pasadena for the purpose of locating the Johnson home on La Pintoresca Drive. He was positive that Johnson had said some bitter things about labor unions.

"Did you look up your report?" asked Darrow of his employee.

"When was it made?"

"It was made August 21, in Pasadena."

Deputy Ford asked to see the memorandum, stating that the code provided for the production of written evidence.

"Would let you see it if there wasn't any code," said Darrow.

"Did Johnson use the exact words used in this report?" inquired Ford.

"Oh, no; I set down the gist of what he said."

"Did you ever read 'Pickwick papers?'" asked Ford.

"There was a series of objections to the defense. The court inquired that Dickens's book had to do with the "Prodigal Son" and "Boulevard Improvements," elaborately illustrated with stereopticon pictures. The second lecture will be by George A. Damon, chief assistant of H. J. Ford, who will speak on "The Solution of Our Transportation Problem." This lecture also will be elaborately illustrated, using slides, and will be given in other cities. It is anticipated that the public interest aroused by these lectures will result in some concrete impression as to the cause of the explosion at First and Broadway.

the paper marked merely for purposes of identification. The District Attorney raised objections customary in such cases.

"Well, if there is any doubt about this being a copy of The Times, we will send for Gen. Otis to identify it," sneered Darrow.

BELIEVER DYNAMITE.

"Do you believe the Times Building was wrecked by dynamite?" asked Darrow.

"I do."

"And you hold the opinion, don't you, that labor union members or sympathizers were responsible?"

"I hardly think so."

"It would take considerable evidence to remove your opinion, wouldn't it?"

"Yes, I think it would," was the attorney's answer.

Preston was then challenged by the defense. It was resisted by the District Attorney, who sought to show that Preston's opinion was based on public rumor, common notoriety and articles read in the papers.

Frank Frakes, examined the day previous, was passed by both sides. He declared that he entertained no opinions about the guilt or innocence of the accused and never had any decided impression as to the cause of the explosion at First and Broadway.

"Would let you see it if there wasn't any code," said Darrow.

"Did Johnson use the exact words used in this report?" inquired Ford.

"Oh, no; I set down the gist of what he said."

"Did you ever read 'Pickwick papers?'" asked Ford.

FREE PUBLIC LECTURES.

Two illustrated ones arranged with the object of creating sentiment for More Progress.

Two lectures, entirely free to the public, have been arranged under the auspices of the City Club, to be delivered in the Auditorium on next Saturday evening, and on Monday evening, November 13. The first will be by J. B. Lippincott, author of "The Story of the Automobile," and the second by H. J. Ford, who will talk on "Prodigal Son" and "Boulevard Improvements," elaborately illustrated with stereopticon pictures. The second lecture will be by George A. Damon, chief assistant of H. J. Ford, who will speak on "The Solution of Our Transportation Problem." This lecture also will be elaborately illustrated, using slides, and will be given in other cities. ## SIAM'S PLOWING FESTIVAL.

Opens the Season for Rice Planting and Is a Governmental and Religious Occasion.

[Consular Reports:] The ancient ceremony of "Plowing Festival" of Siam is usually observed during the first half of the month of May. It is the custom of the people to plant the rice seedlings in the fields at the beginning of rice planting, the rains having by this time sufficiently moistened the hard soil to admit of "wet plowing," dry plowing as a rule not being practiced in Siam.

"I think this man (indicating Johnson) was the one I talked with."

" Didn't you talk with Mr. Wilson, a neighbor of Mr. Johnson's?"

"Yes."

Judge Bordwell asked the young man several questions about his alleged conversation with Johnson. The witness said he told the talesman that he was getting information about the Japanese and Chinese in this State.

JOHNSON CHALLENGED.

After Fitzgerald was allowed to go, Darrow once more challenged Johnson for entertaining such a state of mind as would preclude him from acting fairly and without prejudice to the substantial rights of the defendant.

Upon additional interrogation, the talesman said he had never met the employee of the defense to the best of his recollection. He absolutely denied making any comments upon the witness to the Times Building to any stranger.

After considering all the testimony, Judge Bordwell denied the challenge of the defense and passed the talesman.

Thomas E. Preston, No. 3710 Pasadena Avenue, who acted as a government witness, was called to the stand. He said he had been retained by the defense and the talesman to represent him in a suit for $25,000 damages. The talesman said he had never met the employee of the defense to the best of his recollection. He absolutely denied making any comments upon the witness to the Times Building to any stranger.

After considering all the testimony, Judge Bordwell denied the challenge of the defense and passed the talesman.

There was some question about introducing a copy of that issue as an exhibit. Darrow wanted first to have
